"INFLUENCE"

Paul Gallico has decided it's about time for us to quit being hypocrites over that old bugbear "Influence" as it pertains to matters in higher governmental circles. He figures that it applies all along the line and we shouldn't be too squeamish about it. See his column on page 9.

At Least 35 Persons Perish in Flaming Cars In Worst Rail Disaster in History of West

Girls Ready to Resume Studies After Holiday

There were a variety of expressions, and feelings this morning, as the school kids returned to their desks after enjoying their annual two-month summer holiday. Pictured above, and apparently a little anxious for the bell to call them to their classes, are Alberta Warener, 10273 92 street, on the left; Josie Burke, 8928 102A avenue, in the centre and Patsy Warener, on the right. Judging from the open books and the studious looks on their faces the school bell can't ring too soon for them. Or perhaps they are reviewing last year's studies, at any rate they are a jump ahead of the other youngsters as they prepare themselves for the new term.

Bitter Battle Looms in U. N.

Warn Holy Land Partition Plan To Set Palestine, Arab East Afire

By John A. Parris, Jr.

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The United Nations was warned today that a partition of the Holy Land would "set Palestine and the Arab east on fire."

THE WARNING sharply underlined a promised battle in the UN general assembly which convenes in New York Sept. 16.

Emile Ghoury of the Palestine Arab Higher Committee declared in Jerusalem that his organization had "rejected" proposals by the UN special committee to divide Palestine into Arab and Jewish states and admit 150,000 Jewish immigrants during the next two years.

He said the Arabs "would use all means at their disposal" to combat the proposals and then released an Arab Higher Committee statement declaring that any attempt by the United Nations to carry out the recommendations would result in violence.

GHOURY HAD said earlier that if Great Britain tried to force partition "we will oppose it by force."

Arab spokesmen promised that the seven-state Arab League would fight the report in the general

Two Union Officials Fined for Assault

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., Sept. 2.—(CP)—Two union officials were convicted in police court here on assault charges in connection with the strike at Medalta Potteries Limited plant and fined $20 and costs and placed on six months recognizance for good behavior.

The pair convicted were William Longridge, international representative of the Potteries Workers' Union, and Paul Paternak, an officer of the Medicine Hat local.

Magistrate T. O'B. Gore-Hickman said there was no doubt in his mind they had tried to interfere with the wish of Conrad Ruppert to go to work at the Medalta plant where some 250 employes went on strike Aug. 12 following a wage dispute.

The men were accused of jostling Ruppert in a picket line melee Aug. 21.

Magistrate Gore-Hickman commented that "while the assault was not of a serious or violent nature you interfered with an individual's liberty of action."

District Resident Fatally Injured

Michael Macey, 26-year-old Alix resident was shot accidentally Monday with a .22 rifle and died later in hospital at Lacombe, according to a report received here by RCMP.

Police said Macey had been out in the yard attempting to shoot a hawk. When he found that the gun would not operate he walked back into the house and dropped it in a corner. The jar caused the weapon to discharge and the bullet entered Macey's eye, piercing his brain. The district coroner said no inquest into the death will be necessary.

Trans-Continental Hit by Special Train East of Winnipeg

By Jack Aveson

DUGALD, Man., Sept. 2.—(CP)—At least 35 persons, probably more, died last night in the flaming wreckage of a 13-car Canadian National Railways' campers' special which piled head on into a standing trans-continental passenger train at this flag station 20 miles east of Winnipeg.

The special train carried nine wooden passenger coaches.

Some feared the actual number who perished at the end of a holiday week-end might never be known. By mid-morning—less than 12 hours after the wreck, worst in Western Canada's history — 22 bodies wrapped in gunny sacks lay in the basement of a funeral home in nearby Transcona.

A stream of ambulances moved slowly between that town and the debris-splashed right of way here about which railway police threw a cordon to keep all spectators at bay.

All but two of the bodies are burned beyond recognition. These two had been decapitated.

ONLY TWO DEAD identified are Gaye Lewis, 64, of Transcona, engineer of the special, and Mrs. Albert Simpson, of St. Vital, Winnipeg suburb, a passenger. The former died on his way to hospital at St. Boniface, where 15 injured are recovering, and the latter after reaching there.

A group of relatives wandered restlessly outside the funeral home but they will not be permitted to

"Never Forget Flames ... And Screaming"

Written for British United Press by 18-year-old Paul Prisk, who is one of the survivors of the train wreck at Dugald, Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 2.—(BUP)—I don't know how I ever made it. I'm alive, thank God for that, but as long as I live I don't think I'll ever forget those flames and the screaming.

I WAS SITTING in the coach behind the tender. I was thinking of the job I was coming to here. I was coming here from New Brunswick for the harvest. Suddenly I felt two terrible bumps and everybody seemed to be getting up and yelling all at once.

Earlier police belived Weir was fleeing eastward after a farmer reported giving a man believed to be Weir a "lift towards Drumheller.

Boys Express Mixed Feelings as New School Year Gets Under Way

Oh heck, back to school. That and many other remarks greeted The Edmonton Bulletin cameraman as he viewed Alex Taylor school children preparing to start another term of studies. Pictured on the stairs of the school, and voicing their lack of enthusiasm at returning to school are a group of the boy students. It's not really displeasure, but a great deal of encouragment was needed to get the kids on the steps for their picture. There were many boisterous yells of the kids as they give the old "raspberry" to returning to studies. At the same time they were looking forward to making new friends, to the inter-school sports competitions, and all-around school activities. Yes they were sorry to see the holidays end, but they forgot them in eager anticipation of good times to come at school.

Dark Morning for City Boy Returning to School

Hey kids! School's in. Yes sir, the old school bell called the youngsters back into classrooms this morning and started another ten-month term in their education. The Bulletin cameraman this morning drove down to Alex Taylor school to view all the children starting again. He caught Lemiel Boyd, 10267 95 street pondering whether he liked the idea of returning to school or not. At the time the cameraman took the "shot" he hadn't quite decided. From the look on his face one would think he wasn't any too pleased with the prospect of returning to the three R's.

U. S. Will Live Up to Obligations Of U. N. Charter Declares Truman

QUITANDINHA, Brazil, Sept. 2. — (AP) — President Truman declared today that although the United States has an "aversion to violence" this is no "invitation to others to take liberties with the foundations of international peace."

"NO GREAT NATION has been more reluctant than ours to use armed force," he said in an address prepared for the closing session of the Inter-American defence conference, but today "must not be misread as a lack of determination on our part to live up to the obligations of the United Nations Charter.

Hope to Bridge Shortage

Commonwealth Plans Dollar Crisis Talks

LONDON, Sept. 2. — (Reuters) — Concrete plans to bridge the British Commonwealth shortage of dollars will be threshed out at a conference of Dominion governments of the stirling area here this month, it was announced today.

THE DISCUSSION will take place during the presence here of representatives from the Commonwealth for meetings of the international bank and the international monetary fund.

Australia and New Zealand have already agreed to the proposal an announcement from the Commonwealth relations office said. India, Pakistan and Burma were expected to be represented.

While Canada, as a dollar country, by the terms of the announcement was not included in the "sterling area" dominions, it was learned at Canada House that she will play an informal part in the talks.

FINANCE MINISTER Abbott, who will represent Canada at the international monetary fund meeting, was expected to discuss the general United States dollar shortage with Hugh Dalton, chancellor of the exchequer, and other treasury officials.

It was understood that Australia and New Zealand already have made provisional plans to save dollars. South Africa is believed certain to approach the problem willing to accept austerities which will help Britain.

New Fisheries Minister

Maritimes VC Holder Appointed to Cabinet

By George Kitchen

OTTAWA, Sept. 2. — (CP) — Milton F. Gregg, VC, soldiery president of the University of New Brunswick, has accepted an invitation by Prime Minister Mackenzie King to assume the fisheries portfolio in the federal cabinet, the Canadian Press learned authoritatively last night.

MR. GREGG now is en route to Ottawa and likely will be sworn in Wednesday as successor to the late Hon. Frank F. Bridges, who died unexpectedly three weeks ago.

As the new fisheries minister, Mr. Gregg will stand for election to the House of Commons as the Liberal candidate in the federal by-election called for Oct. 20 in the New Brunswick constituency of York-Sunbury, the former Conservative stronghold won by Mr. Bridges when he went into the Commons and the cabinet two years ago.

Mr. Gregg is no newcomer to the Commons. He was appointed sergeant-at-arms during the Conservative administration of 1934 and served until the outbreak of the Second World War when he returned to the army.

THE POST of sergeant-at-arms normally is not a political appointment.

Mr. Gregg, 55, won his Victoria Cross in the First World War.

While his appointment was disclosed here last night by sources close to the government, the prime minister's office replied with a terse "no comment" to queries about Mr. Gregg's selection as the new cabinet minister.

It was expected the official announcement would be made by Mr. King Wednesday after Mr. Gregg is sworn in.

His army record in both the First and Second World Wars stamped him as one of Canada's best known soldiers. He went overseas with the Black Watch in 1915 as a private and was wounded three times in the First World War. He received the Victoria Cross in Sepetmber, 1918, for a lone penetration of the Hindenberg Line at Cambrai, obtaining valuable information on the sortie.

In addition, he won the Military Cross while serving at Vimy with the Royal Canadian Regiment and received a bar to that decoration shortly after.

Tells of Wreck

I was thrown against something and then the next I remember I woke up out in a field. I don't know how I got out or what happened but instincts must have taken me out. I came to in the field and I saw big flames riding up the sky, people were running around all over.

I could hear screams from all over, and somehow I just wanted to lie there and go to sleep. There was a friend with me in the coach, but I don't know what happened to him. Right now I can't remember his name. I think I passed out again—my head was cut, my right eye was shut tight and both my shoulders and left knee hurt.

I woke up again and I was lying in St. Boniface hospital.

Harold Cloutier, 37-year-old baggage man on the Minaki Special, sat up in St. Boniface hospital today and declared "I'm tickled to death I'm even breathing."

In an interview with British United Press, Cloutier, who was alone in the baggage car, two cars behind the engine, said he thought "I was going to die."

He said he felt a tremendous jolt and thought he was thrown against the side of the wooden car. He was knocked unconscious.

"When I came to, there were flames all around me. I felt my breath leaving me. It seemed strange. I kept thinking that this was all a terrible dream. I knew I was alone in the car and I thought of my wife and two young children at home in Winnipeg."

Cloutier did not know who rescued him. Somehow the doors of the car were opened.

"I was staggering in the car. I did not know where I was going. I remember that my shoulders and my neck were burning and I heard somebody yell 'don't go that way'."

assembly through its five UN members—Egypt, Iraq, Syria, Lebanon and Saudi Arabia.

First Jewish reaction to the committee report was mostly favorable. A member of the General Zionist party in Switzerland where Jewish leaders are attending the world Zionist Congress said the UN committee proposals were acceptable as the basis for negotiation.

ALTHOUGH THERE was no official British comment, some British sources cast doubt on the feasibility of the plan while others hinted Britain might comply with the recommendations.

The 11-member UN special committee on Palestine unanimously recommended Holy Land independence from Britain's 25-year-old mandate "at the earliest practicable date."

A seven-member majority including Canada, urged partition of Palestine into Arab and Jewish states, an international city of Jerusalem and admission of 150,000 Jews into the Jewish territory during the two-year transition period.

A THREE-MEMBER minority called for a federal Arab-Jewish state and entry of Jews up to the "absorptive capacity" of the Jewish portion during a transition period of up to three years.

Richest Girl in World Again Tries Marriage

PARIS, Sept. 2—(AP)—The fabulously wealthy Doris Duke was married Monday to dark and handsome Porfirio Rubirosa, honorary charge d'affaires of the Dominican Republic.

DORIS DUKE

The simple ceremony was at the Dominican consulate.

It was the second marriage for the 34-year-old "richest girl in the world," and the third for her groom, who is about three inches shorter than his bride.

Miss Duke was married in 1935 to James H. R. Cromwell, whom President Roosevelt appointed Ambassador to Canada. They were divorced in 1943. Rubirosa was divorced last May from the screen actress, Danielle Darrieux, and before that was married to Flor de Oro Trujillo, daughter of President Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic.

Miss Duke's fortunes was estimated four years ago at $53,0,000. Other estimates have ranged up to $200,000,000.

Bogus Notes Flood Continent

Police Comb All Europe For Mysterious Forger

LONDON, Sept. 2—(Reuters)—Police in seven European countries—Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, Sweden, Denmark and Eire—yesterday began a combined search for a mysterious Frenchman who, they believe, is the "master mind" behind a gigantic threat to world currency.

Described as being between 35 and 45 "with wavy brown hair and honest blue eyes" he is well educated and speaks English fluently. Usually he is accompanied by a beautiful dark-haired girl aged about 25.

For months past, large numbers of counterfeit banknotes have been in circulation in various parts of the continent. Sunday they appeared for the first time in Dublin, and Monday the search concentrated there while special agents and customs officers kept a close watch at airfields and seaports to frustrate attempts to smuggle forged notes into Britain.

Origin of the false notes has been traced to Heinrich Himmler's wartime forgery workshops at the Sachenhausen "luxury" concentration camp, set up by the Gestapo to raise money and spread confusion.

There, according to evidence now in the hands of Scotland Yard, 400 expert forgers were employed by the Nazis. All hardened criminals, they were recruited from various countries in Central Europe and Germany. Because, after the war, they might equally have used their skill against Hitler, they were to have been executed by the Gestapo but they escaped when American forces overran the camp.

retained as evidence of the seriousness with which we view our obligations."

Truman said the post-war era "has brought us bitter disappointment and deep concern.

"We find that a number of nations are still subjected to a type of foreign domination which we fought to overcome. Many of the remaining peoples of Europe and Asia live under the shadow of armed agression."

He laid down a four-point American foreign policy under which he said the United States will pursue the quest for peace with no less persistence and no less determination "than we applied to the quest for military victory."

The points:

1. UNDER THE Marshall Plan, the United States intends to do its best "to provide economic help to those who are prepared to help themselves and each other." The United States is prepared to do everything it can "within safe limits, that will be helpful and effective."

2. Fidelity to the United Nations. "We shall not forget our obligations under the charter, nor shall we permit others to forget theirs."

3. In carrying out its obligations to achieve world stability and peace, the United States is determined "to remain strong."

4. The problems of countries in the western hemisphere are different in nature from those of Europe and cannot be relieved by the same means, but "will be approached by us with the utmost good faith and with increased vigor in the coming period."

The magistrate set over 10 charges laid against union members under the Alberta Labor Code stating that the question of whether the strike is legal was still before the Alberta Supreme Court and that he could not accept jurisdiction.

Five other charges of assault and interference were scheduled to be heard this afternoon.

The planned conference Thursday between Mayor W. M. Rae, company and union representatives, was cancelled by the mayor who stated Friday: "I considered it advisable later to withdraw my original invitations for such a conference as being premature."

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., Sept. 2—(CP)—An agreement to arbitrate the 12-day-old strike of 67 employes of the Medicine Hat Brick and Tile Company was made at the week-end but there was no progress toward settlement of the 19-day old strike of 250 employes of Medalta Potteries Limited.

Agreement to arbitrate the brick and tile strike came after a series of meetings between David Mathieson of Edmonton, Alberta government industrial relations board conciliator, and representatives of the management and of the pottery workers union.

The strikers returned to their jobs Tuesday and arbitration will open as soon as representatives can be appointed. Conciliation proceedings between the two parties broke down Aug. 18 on a wage dispute and the next morning the men did not report for work.

Mr. Mathieson will remain in the city to open conciliation discussions between Alberta Linseed Oil Co., Ltd., and its employes union. Negotiations have been in progress the past week and both sides have rejected several clauses in proposed contracts submitted by the other. Some 30 to 40 workers are involved in this plant.

attempt to identify the dead until an inquest has been held, possibly tonight if searchers are satisfied all bodies have been recovered by then. More waited at the Transcona police station.

One Transcona woman said she couldn't count the number she had directed to the funeral home.

Some of the gunny sacks were pitifully small—one the size of a man's two fists doubled together.

THE SPECIAL, Winnipeg-bound from Lake of The Woods resorts, was carrying an estimated 750-850 passengers when it crashed into the trans-continental at about a 35-mile clip. In the wild confusion which followed no one is sure who survived, who died, and while the CNR issued a statement at dawn it contained no additional information.

The second baggage car—the first was the only steel coach on the train—burst into flames at the impact, the following coaches split their couplings, sprawling crazily along the right of way and one by one caught fire.

So did a nearby grain elevator and oil storage tanks. Boiling paint ran down the sides of one steel coach. Flames shot skywards for hundreds of feet; oil tanks exploded. The intense heat quickly drove back the survivors and the passengers of the trans-continental—where only minor injuries were suffered—as they tried desperately to reach the trapped.

TELEPHONE operators summoned ambulances, doctors, police and firemen from Winnipeg, St. Boniface and Transcona but there was little they could do except pick up the injured who had already crawled or been helped to safety.

Hundreds of automobiles, their occupants drawn by the sirens and the red glare, visible for six miles, sped to the scene. The spectators saw both locomotives locked together, the baggage car of the trans-continental raised partly over the tender ahead, flaming passenger coaches and debris. They heard the screams of the hurt and trapped.

The stories of the survivors were similar. They had been talking, card-playing or dozing when the crash came. They fought their way out or were pulled out by the more fortunate. Scores did not know how they had lived.

G. A. STONE, Bob Creighton, Nora Paterson and Belle McIntyre, all of Winnipeg—most of the special's passengers were from the Winnipeg area — were playing bridge when "all of a sudden there was a lurch as though we were braking fast," Stone said.

"Then came a jar which threw the two girls on top of us. The table just seemed to disappear and the lights went out. The car left the rails and one end went into the ditch.

"A bolt of flame, like an electric flash, came right through the car and then the car caught fire. I don't know how we got out the window but we did. I saw one girl lying on the right of way with her arm cut off as clean as if it had been done with a scalpel.

"Our coach burned slowly but the one behind seemed to go up like a flash. I don't know how the people there fared. Outside, the flames lit up the scene just like daylight. People were running around looking for their friends and screaming but there was not what you'd call panic.

"We were certainly lucky. Nora found two four-leafed clovers yesterday, strange to say."

A PASSENGER on the special, Charles E. Taylor of Vancouver, said he and another man had run to the front of the train after the crash, kicked in a door of the leading coach and rescued four or five before the heat drove them away.

He said he had seen the bodies of two women with their heads torn off.

Taylor and two nurses — Joyce Rutherford and June Wallace—did what they could for the injured.

Then, Taylor said, he noticed a man lying beside the locomotive. "We looked for something to carry him on and the only thing we could find was the station sign. We tore it off, placed him on it and carried him that way to a truck we had stopped."

Others said the man probably was Engineer Lewis who died on his way to the hospital.

AT ONE TIME four light aircraft from the Winnipeg Flying Club were standing by to transport the injured but plans to use them were cancelled when it was found all possible emergency fields were covered with stooks of grain. One plane actually did land but it remained at the scene.

A railway police cordon, thrown about the scene of the wreck, kept back hundreds of spectators who had driven there.

Discontinue Search For Killer-Bandit

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2—(CP)—Chief Constable Walter Mulligan of Vancouver said last night that organized search for Walter Pavlukoff, 35-year-old ex-convict accused of the gun-slaying of Bank Manager Sydney S. Petrie, 55, last Monday, has been discontinued in the dense bushlands of Surrey, about 20 miles southeast of here.

However some new developments were expected to follow the finding of a 9 mm. Luger automatic last night, with no clip and with one round jammed in the breach, buried in the sand on a beach about 125 feet from where the fleeing killer abandoned his coat and vest after cutting down the courageous bank manager.

Police said they were certain the gun was the one used in the slaying but were awaiting ballistics reports for confirmation.

YOU'D BE Surprised!

If you've never smoked a burley tobacco, you'd be surprised how it keeps your tongue cool, packs so easily, burns smoothly, and stays lit with a minimum of light-ups. You can smoke it all day long, and still come up for more.

Picobac is the pick of the Burley crop, grown in sunny southern Ontario, where climate and soil are the secret ingredients for a mild, cool, satisfying smoke.

The big question for every young man to answer . . .

WHAT WILL YOU BE WORTH IN 1977?

Any spirited young man has no fear for the future. He's determined to "get some place" and earn a good income.

That's as it should be. But experience shows that the men who have built up estates on the firmest foundation are those who steadfastly invested part of each year's earnings in life insurance.

For years they and their dependents have enjoyed the peace of mind that comes from financial security. Mortgages have been paid off and children educated. Now these men are taking life easy.

What of yourself? What do you plan to be worth in 1977?

Write for our booklet "Retiring in Comfort". It tells how much you need to invest each year to get the retirement income you desire.

Hold Suspect As Pair Killed

VERNON, B.C., Sept. 2.—(CP)—Provincial police report a man and woman were shot to death Saturday night on a farm at Salmon River, some 30 miles west of Vernon, B.C., and that another man has been arrested and charged with murder.

Dead are Mrs. Thomas Luxton and a man named Lane.

Thomas Luxton was arrested and charged with the double slaying.

Police report he made an unsuccessful attempt yesterday to take his own life by slashing his throat and wrists with glass from his broken spectacles. He has now been placed in hospital under guard, and is reported to be in good condition.

Police report Luxton returned to the farm Friday night from Vancouver Island after a lengthy absence, and that he shot his wife and Lane in the yard. He is believed to have been living recently at Metchosin, B.C., near Victoria.

Labor Bargaining Is "Indispensable"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—President Truman said yesterday the labor-management "bargaining table" is "indispensable to our democracy, and must be safeguarded against any attempts by misguided or ill-intentioned groups or individuals to weaken or replace it."

"I believe," he added in a Labor Day statement, "that enlightened labor and enlightened management, working together, can accomplish for more by peaceful bargaining than is possible through legislation."

Truman made no direct reference to the new Taft-Hartley labor law, which congress passed over his veto.

In a statement released at the same time presidential assistant John R. Steelman said organized labor in the United States is "stronger than ever before" and "more mature in its recognition of responsibility for the national welfare."

Fire in Vacant House Features Holiday

A fire about 10 p.m. Monday caused considerable damage to a vacant house at 105 avenue and 107 street. Above the firemen are shown in action extinguishing the blaze. Although vacant for sometime the house was completely furnished and the furnishings suffered smoke and water damage. The flames were confined to the walls and ceiling on the inside of the four room bungalow. Inside of 20 minutes firemen from Halls Nos. 2 and 5 had the fire under control using one line of hose. Police said the house was owned by a Mrs. Winnick. Efforts to locate her have been unsuccessful.

If the sun were made of coal mixed with oxygen to make it burn, it would last only 1,600 years if it burned fast enough to give out as much heat as it does.

First Show of Realism

Lt.-Gen. Horace C. H. Robertson, commander-in-chief of British Commonwealth occupation forces in Japan, has warned delegates to the Commonwealth conference in the Australian capital that the sincerity of the Japanese conversion to peaceful ways should not be accepted too readily.

General Robertson should be commended for his good sense and his plain speaking. For in contrast to the over-enthusiastic reports from some United States sources, this statement is the first show of realism to come out of the situation.

A great many people have been suspicious of the optimistic American declarations that the Japanese are now indoctrinated with democratic principles and are to devote themselves to a national career of sweetness and light.

For it was not in the course of nature that such a conversion should proceed with such speed and facility. It is impossible to wipe out thousands of years of tradition with a comparatively brief occupation, particularly with a people like the Japanese whose inferiority complex makes them sensitive to the humiliation of occupation.

What we do know about the Japanese is that they are consummate hyprocrites. They seem to be exercising that faculty now.

No one advocates prolonged punishment for the Japanese people. So far as the allied powers are concerned, the Japanese are already forgiven. But there is nothing incompatible between forgiveness and caution. Forgiveness does not necessarily imply immediate trust.

General Robertson does humanity a service by so boldly speaking his mind.

Full Stops on Jasper

Traffic safety on the main streets of Edmonton would be considerably improved if more full stops for traffic were made obligatory along the length of Jasper avenue.

At present, traffic lights at 101st and 100th streets establish a measure of control. Otherwise the motorist or truck driver has a complete right of way from one end of the avenue to the other. This uninterupted right of way always appears to act as an incentive to fast and careless driving.

Curves in a street, for some peculiar reason, always seem to challenge the driver to an extra burst of speed. That is why, wherever a curve occurs, there should be a full stop indicated for through Jasper traffic.

Full stops are just as important on main highways as on the intersections leading into them.

Canada's Export Trade

Although Canada contains less than one per cent of the world's population, in 1939 she ranked sixth among the nations in total trade, fifth in exports and sixth in imports. During the war years due to an unlimited demand abroad for foodstuffs and war materials, she became the world's third largest external trader. One-third of all goods produced in the country in 1944 were exported, compared with less than 20 per cent of a much smaller 1938 production total.

The end of the war brought about an abrupt cessation in the export of war goods, which was only partially compensated for by the reopening and expansion of normal peacetime trade. While the downward trend continued into 1946, with total exports for the first eight months 35 per cent lower than for the corresponding period of 1945, exports for this period were more than double the total for the first eight months of 1939.

Foreign requirements are continuing at a high level and total exports in the year ended August thirty-first, 1946, aggregated two billion, 415 million in value as compared with 881 million dollars for the last year of peace. While the two amounts are not strictly comparable, nevertheless, the volume of increase over the pre-war period has been very great, and the flow of exports at a high level is continuing protection against an increase in unemployment and a falling national income.

According to figures of the external trade branch of the Dominion bureau of statistics, export trade expansion is continuing during the present year. The figures are a comparison between the first six months of 1947 and the corresponding period of 1938, as well as with the first six months of 1946.

Gains have been recorded in almost every case since 1938, some of them very impressive. From January to June, 1938, our total exports amounted to 387 million, 100 thousand dollars. For the first half of last year they had risen to one billion, 62 million, 800 thousand dollars. A further gain is recorded for the January to June period of this year, with a total of one billion, 328 million, 500 thousand dollars.

The maintenance of our position in world trade is of very great importance to Canada. Only by large scale exporting is it possible to reap the economies of large-scale production, and Canada's needs for the many goods that cannot be produced in Canada can be satisfied only if sufficient Canadian products are sold on the international market to pay for the imports.

Polio Research

That poliomyelitis appears to be acquiring new malignancy which places it in the forefront of dread diseases is shown in the fact that Lloyds of London are advertising special polio insurance for Canadians under the heading "The Most Dreaded Disease of Mankind."

The very fact that Lloyds consider the epidemic of sufficient importance to warrant the formulation of a special insurance policy indicates the deep concern with which the people of Canada are viewing the outbreak.

There is reason for that concern. Latest reports place the incidence of the disease as follows: Manitoba has 397 cases; British Columbia has 174; Saskatchewan has 131; Alberta has 26.

Altogether there are now 728 cases in the western provinces alone. And the epidemic does not seem to be reacting to cooler weather as it ordinarily does.

The undoubted gravity of the situation naturally suggests the most pertinent question which is this: What are the Canadian health authorities doing about it? We do not refer to the efforts of provincial health departments to keep the disease under control, but the larger and more comprehensive need for research and study which falls within the duty and obligation of national authorities.

The National Research Council exists, for instance, to enquire into scientific matters of interest to the Canadian people.

What, then, is the National Research Council doing about poliomyelitis? How much money is it spending upon a study of the factors that produce the disease and means of preventing it?

These are questions in which the Canadian people are vitally interested. They are questions that should have an answer.

Coldwell at the Whistle

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

My good neighbor, Mrs. Noggins arrived over here just now bearing in her hands a dozen eggs and a newspaper report of Mr. Coldwell's last speech. I did not tell her which gift I considered the more valuable. However, Mrs. Noggins' mind was not on eggs, a subject of practical importance, but on Mr. Coldwell's speech, which included these words: "How free is the man who goes to work when the whistle blows and goes home when another whistle blows?"

CONCERNING THIS announcement Mrs. Noggins stated:

"The way I figger it, come the day when Coldwell is runnin' the country, there'll be no more whistles blowin', there'll be no more nothink, jest freedom for everybody. Why, there's Coldwell in Ottawa runnin' the country with his fingers on the throttle and the great socialist machine ready to turn over, and Coldwell's waitin' there at eight o'clock in the mornin' for the 'ired 'ands to turn up. But nobody turns up because everybody's free. So Coldwell waits all day but the machine don't move, and 'e waits day after day, but still no 'ired 'ands, and the machine gettin' rusty. Everybody starves to death, of course, after a week or two but it don't matter. We're all free and none of them capitalist whistles blowin' to wake us up.

"Why, we won't even 'ave to go to the trouble of cashin' a pay cheque because the fellas that write 'em will be layin' in bed enjoyin' their freedom, and there'll be no postmen to deliver 'em, even if they are writ, on account of all the postmen are out fishin', like free men should be. And there's good old Coldwell jest itchin' to pull the whistle cord but 'e won't do it, of course, because 'e believes in liberty. So there's no sound of a whistle across the 'ole country, only the groans of the 'ungry. That's freedom, sir, that's fredom.

"WEE, A FEW FELLAS will probably turn up to work when they're 'ungry enough, but with Coldwell at the throttle, they'll turn up as they please, at any old hour and quit when they feel like it, too. But on account of some guy is missin' who used to turn some nut on the machine, nothink' will come out of the factory, the trains will stop runnin' whenever the henginеer stops to pick daisies; the TCA planes will be parked in some farmyard where the pilot 'as a girl friend and cops will be drinkin' beer, like all good, free men, while the burglars stay on the job because they don't know what freedom means. The day of freedom 'as dawned, as Uncle 'Erbert said in 'is last speech in Liverpool, but next day they put him in jail for carryin' 'is principles too far into the cash box at the city treasury.

"Well, Coldwell won't be sittin' by the whistle very long before 'e'll 'ave a great revelation. Yes, sir, like the Roosians 'e'll suddenly find that everythink depends on who is blowin' the whistle. If the capitalists blow it at eight o'clock it makes a slave out of every man who answers it. But if the socialist gover'mint blows it at eight o'clock why, the worker comes to work a free man. And if the gover'mint blows it at 'alf past seven then the worker is still freer yet. The more you work the freer you are, and that's why the Roosian people are so much freer than we are 'ere, and if they don't turn up when the whistle blows they henjoy the final freedom to be shot, which is the real mark of liberty everywhere. So when Coldwell blows the whisle the workers will all come a-runnin' even if they 'aven't 'ad time to finish their breakfast, but they'll run as free men, not as slaves like they do now. And they'll run faster.

"But Mr. Winch, 'e can't wait for the great day of freedom. Winch is blowin' 'is whistle already. Yes, says Winch, nobody ort to obey the law these days on account of it's capitalist law, and Coldwell, who is a great law-and-order man raises 'is eyebrows when 'e 'ears Winch, but 'e don't raise his 'and.

"NO, COLDWELL BELIEVES in freedom too much to interfere when Winch is out to destroy it. This is a country of slaves, of course, but we do 'ave free speech, so nobody ort to interfere with Winch when 'e raises the mob.

"But it'll be funny, but not too funny, when Coldwell passes 'is new laws and the capitalists refuse to obey 'em because they're socialist laws. At that point the socialist gover'mint will free all the slaves by makin' them do exaxtly what the gover-mint says like free men orta.

"Arise, you slaves, you've got nothink to lose but your chains and your job and your livin'. That's wot Uncle 'Erbrt told, and 'e enjoyed the freedom of a jail for the rest of 'is life. The whistles blowed but good old 'Erbert never 'ad to go to work again. No, 'e jest laid back and let 'em blow. Why, 'Erbert was years ahead of Coldwell in 'is thinkin."

Mr. Britain Sees it Through…

BY F. B. WALKER

LONDON, Aug. 27 — Almost exactly a year ago tonight I walked off a ship in the Surrey docks, scrambled for a taxi, and drove for the first time in a decade through the shabby, dusty streets of post-war London. The change was shocking. The Old Lady was down at heel and tired. Even her Bond street finery had a tawdry look.

In the 12 months which have gone by things have, if anything, become a little worse and in the months to come undoubtedly will become worse still. There are forecasts of another breakdown this winter, of factories idle, of unemployment and short rations.

Yet tonight London is full of laughing couples, walking arm in arm down Oxford street. The crowds are lounging in the park, the bus conductors are making their old cracks and the spirit of the city is strong and gay. Is it ignorance, courage or complacency?

Do the young couple who walked ahead of me down Park Lane and probably live in a rather ramshackled London house know what is ahead and realize what it means? Is the girl thinking of how to stretch an inadequate clothing allowance for even longer? Is she thinking of her menus this winter when the green vegetables will have become scarce again and the little tid-bits brought in under the American loan will no longer be there?

IS HER HUSBAND wondering whether he is one of those upon whom the axe will fall, who will have to find another job in the movement of labor which is bound to follow when fuel and materials are rationed?

It is difficult to answer any of those questions but Londoners have a wonderful resilience of spirit and the lovely summer has blown away the chills of last winter and mesmerized the city. Austerity has become a joke, if a grim joke. As more and more restrictions go on, the natural toughness of the Londoners asserts itself. There is strangely little real grumbling.

What there is, is quite superficial. "Old Austerity Cripps, well he doesn't like meat anyway," but really most people like Sir Stafford. "I bet old Shinwell's got all the coal he needs." The kind of thing you hear everywhere in every country.

IT MAY BE DIFFERENT when the days are short and dark and the nights long and cold; when the fuel gets low in the cellar and the electric light keeps going on and off to "shed the load". But tonight, when the stars are out and the sky is like clean black velvet, it is a different story.

An old man speaking from a platform in Hyde Park turned on a lady heckler, bowed and told her:

"Madame, a house full of daughters is like a cellar full of sour beer."

The crowd rocked with laughter and moved on to hear the young Negro describe Gracie Fields as "the most wonerful woman in the world."

London, in its strange, warm way—rather like Gracie—is very wonderful too.

Smiles

"Dear, oh dear," said the henpecked man. "My poor wife had a terrible experience last night. A man came up in the street and started hitting her and pushing her all over the place till she was black and blue."

"Were you with her at the time?" asked a friend.

"Oh, yes," he said, "I was there".

"And you didn't interfere?"

"I couldn't."

"Why not."

"Well, I was filling my pipe."

The new police inspector was unduly zealous, and the landlord of the Pump and Pewter had been frightened into announcing the discontinuance of his annual raffle.

On New Year's Eve, however, the click of dice was heard as usual in the beer parlor, and one of the patrons of the establishment found himself the possessor of a pair of fowl.

"Stroke of luck for me you altered your mind about 'aving a raffle," he remarked to the landlord. "What made you do it?"

"It wasn't my wish, George," came the reply. "It was the missus's silly fancies what done it. She never will eat chickens as dies natural."

"I can't understand how you manage to keep so calm whatever happens," said Robinson.

"Oh, it's just a matter of training," explained Thompson. "You see, I've a wife, five children, two dogs, and a cigarette lighter!"

The proud father was talking about the intelligence of his son.

"You know, dear," he told his wife. "I think he must have got his brains from me."

"He certainly must have done," retorted his wife. "I've still got mine."

A business house kept an attennance book which everyone had to sign on arriving at work. This book was taken by a junior to the Superintendent's office at 9 a.m., and everyone arriving late had to go there to sign his name.

One inveterate late-comer, who regularly signed in the august presence, arrived breathless one morning—as usual, after 9 a.m.—and went straight to the Super's office.

The Attendance Book was not there. Entirely unabashed, he turned to his senior, who had fixed him with an angry glare and quietly remarked.

"Good-morning, sir, the Attendance Book is late this morning, isn't it?"

The motorist had been involved in an accident and was making a short stay in the village while his car was repaired. The first evening he approached the village constable.

"I say," he asked, "when does the theatre open?"

"There's no theatre here."

"Well, then, the cinema?"

"B'ain't be no cinema, either."

"Good gracious, man, have you no evening amusements?"

"Well, sir," replied the policeman, scratching his head, "if ye wait until eight o'clock ye'll see them shunting the goods train."

"And to whom does this lovely violin belong?" asked the visitor of the cotter's wife.

"My 'usband, ma'am; 'e wouldn't rest till he 'ad one."

"Dear, dear," went on the visitor, "but I didn't know that Mr. Gibson could play the violin."

"Bless you, no ma'am," said the old woman, "nor can 'e. Why 'e don't even know 'ow to wind it up yet."

Odds and Ends

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

Here is the wittiest explanation I have heard yet at annoyance of some Americans because the Russians walked out on the so-called Marshall Plan. It was an unpublished remark by Mr. Kenny, a noted Democrat of California, who recently visited Canada to take part in a Town Meeting broadcast.

"They are mad at what they call the 'dirty Russians' for not taking the money we WEREN'T going to give them anyway," he put it.

PHILPOTT

SOME OF the really meaty bits of news never get in the daily newspapers. One of these was the speech of Lord Moran, president of the British Royal College of Physicians. He told his fellow members of the British House of Lords on June 3 why he opposes military conscription for British youths.

The noted doctor gave the latest figures for incidence of veneral disease in the armies.

New Cases Per Thousand Troops
September, 1946

In Japan	228 per 1000
In Germany	185 per 1000
In Austria, Italy	168 per 1000
In Burma	141 per 1000
In Middle East	31 per 1000
In Britain	33 per 1000

A PUBLIC OPINION institute has polled rank-and-file members of all trade unions in North America and got the following results:

For AFL-CIO merger	55%
Against AFL-CIO merger	25%
Don't Care	20%

It seems strange when such an emphatic majority favors a merger the leaders show so little zeal to respond to rank-and-file wishes.

However, that same criticism could be made of all nation's governments today.

If given a free fair vote on certain simple questions, such as "do you want another war?" the people of all lands would vote over 99 per cent the same way.

There would be almost as much unanimity of opinion if the people were asked "do you think our nations' governments are going about the right way to make sure of peace?"

In the latter case the people would vote "no" by almost as big a majority as on the first question.

ONE OF THE WORST features of democracy, as practiced in recent years, is that the governments say they never take chances of getting "ahead of public opinion."

But I feel sure the people of most countries are away ahead of their governments on such questions as how to organize the UN organization to keep the peace.

Take the recent vetoes on new membership in the United Nations. The Soviets once again vetoed admission of Eire, Portugal and Trans-Jordan. The United States, or her close friends, vetoed the admission of Albania and Mongolia.

Having thus tied one more knot on their own deadlock the contestants proceeded to do the same thing again.

Russia vetoed admission of Italy and Austria. The United States blocked admission of Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

THERE IS ONLY one thing against any of those nations blackballed from the world organization. That is, each of the Big Two rivals fears that the other is trying to line up new recruits for its voting bloc.

If given a free vote the General Assembly of the United Nations would admit every one of the nations so far barred.

Fascist Spain's is the only government of a great nation against which there are valid reasons for exclusion. The excuses given by the Russians for keeping out one bunch of applicants, and by the United States for keeping out another, are ridiculous when one examines the records of many of the nations already in UN.

DOLLAR SHORTAGE

Editor, Bulletin: It is impossible for the USA to become a credit nation, as she can not accept goods in payment of debt without putting 50 per cent of her workers on relief.

England is the only nation designed to take goods in payment of international loans. She functions as a factory, buys the raw material from one, sells the finished product to another.

If the world is short of dollars now, with the huge American loans, the crash is inevitable.

LOOSEN UP WITH SUGAR

Editor, Bulletin: Re the shortage of butter and the ever-increasing price.

The government is hinting of again rationing this commodity so that people in the lower income will be able to get some.

If the said government has any thought of people of low income, especially the pensioner, it might redeem itself to some extent if it loosened up on sugar so that these people could save the balance of their fruit. This fruit could be used to a great extent in saving the butter.

There appears to be lots of sugar for other non-essential purposes.

COST OF BUTTER

Editor, Bulletin: An inquiry please. What is the cost to produce a lb. of butter in Alberta at the present time, also a bushel of wheat?

I wrote to the Parity Board Ottawa, and received the following reply: "I regret that I am not in a position to send you information regarding the costs of producing either wheat or butter. As far as I know such information is not available."

So there is no daylight there and this is not a military secret either.

Many, including myself would like an answer to the question: When wheat sells at a dollar a bushel what is a pound of butter worth?

MEDICAL RESEARCH

Editor, Bulletin: From London comes news that Hon. Herbert Morrison opposed a motion to spend more money on infantile paralysis research, arguing that the government could not "squander" money on research projects which promised to lead nowhere.

If vivisectors would stop animal experimentation and turn their vast resources to first-hand study of actual cases of human disease in minute detail, involving the patients' personal habits, occupation, surroundings, etc., then similarities would eventually offer clues to the causes of these diseases and their cure.

This would be true medical research.

PHILPOTT AND JAPS

Editor, Bulletin: The argument by Mr. Phillpott is that the Japs are being persecuted because of their race and that we better make friends with them or we will not be able to sell them goods after the war.

Let us get this straight. Japan conducted one of the most treacherous and bestial wars in history. Canadian-born Japs fought for Japan. Canadian soldiers in Hong Kong were shot in cold blood and nurses were subjected to unbelievable indecencies. A Canadian-born Jap, Inouye, guilty of barbaric treatment of Canadian prisoners, was later hanged for high treason. Charges of disloyalty were made in Commons. And so on. We have short memories. The government promised an inquiry and then broke its promise. Until this matter is investigated and the charge of disloyalty is cleared up, any charge of race-hatred on the part of Canadians is premature.

The present appeasement in the hope of selling goods means we have lost our self-respect. More than that, it will not help in the least. Australia, a country that has always kept Japan at arm's length, was always able in pre-war days to compete with us on equal terms for the trade of Japan.

DISTURBED

ABNEGATION WOULD HELP

Editor Bulletin: What a critical monetary mess we are in. But there are ugly angles that every Canadian should know about, and do something about. We cannot be proud of the fact that reckless Canadian spending in the United States will have to be met by an immense loan from the United States or by draining United States dollars from Britain (her lifeblood just now)—or by both! Our government may not be able to put the brakes on in time, or will not for this and that reason, but surely if every real Canadian would refuse to buy the extra special items of goods and foods from the States—and which are scarce enough there—it would be a very big help all around.

RELIGION AND EDUCATION

Editor, Bulletin: I was very interested in your editorial on "Religion and Education," a subject over which I am concerned because I am a schoolteacher.

The Church, as the champion of moral education in this country, has failed because it cannot reach the people. Why can it not reach the people? Because the people just won't go to church. Why won't people go to church? The reasons are as various as they are numerous, but some of the chief ones are: poor sermons; emphasis on preaching rather than teaching; indifference on the part of the people to religion; and the fact that it is far more entertaining to sit home and listen to radio comedians.

The school must be the real champion of moral education. It needs not religion to accomplish this. Though religion cannot exist without moral education, moral education can exist without religion.

Of course, the subject of religion is inevitable in the school, as it shows itself in the social studies, the sciences and the arts, particularly by its tremendous influence in the past. There is no harm in teaching about religion as long as we do not teach religion.

WILLINGDON, Sept. 2.—The Willingdon hall presented a colorful scene recently when upward to 50 visiting Elks from Mundare, Holden, Vegreville, Lloydminster and Edmonton were in attendance to welcome in the "infant" lodge of the province—Willingdon Lodge No. 303, BPOE.

Ceremonies of the evening were under the direction of P. A. Miquelon of Edmonton, dominion grand organizer of the Order who had been here for 10 days enrolling a membership of 57 citizens of the town and district.

Officers from Vegreville, Edmonton, Holden and Lloydminster lodges filled the various chairs in the ceremonies which were marked throughout with decorum and dignity. Mr. Miquelon occupied the exalted ruler's chair.

After the initiation ceremony the women of the IODE served a buffet lunch.

The Grand Lodge was represented by Clifford Conway, Grand Chaplain of the Order, and P. A. Miquelon, Dominion grand Organizer and the Alberta Elks Association by Charles Brinton, first Vice-President.

Assisted by the grand chaplain, Mr. Miquelon installed the following officers who will guide the Willingdon lodge for the ensuing term: Exalted Ruler, H. C. Reeves; Leading Knight, George N. Kelba, Loyal Knight, H. R. Savage; lecturing Knight, S. D. Samoll; secretary, E. J. Woolley; treasurer, L. Sereda; esquire, Jack Zukiwski; inner guard, N. W. Shandro. Tyler, N. To Carry Out Pledge

RED DEER, Sept.2.—Members of the Red Deer Rotary Clb, at their regular weekly luncheon, stated their intention of carrying out a previously given pledge to raise $5,000 for the Red Deer and District War Memorial. This sum will be a club effort and will be aside from any contributions made by individual members. Ten Rotarians volunteered to canvass citizens in the drive.

The meeting was given over to discussion of plans for the memorial campaign. A Lundie spoke of some of the difficulties of the canvassing committee. The service clubs had all fallen short in their canvassing efforts and in order to complete the job of raising money every member would have to back the effort to the limit. Harold J. Snell, chairman of the Memorial Committee, was confident that the city and district could finish the job successfully and stressed the importance of early action. F. T. Jenner, vice-chairman of the committee spoke of some of their plans and answered a number of questions in connection with the work.

U.K. to Reject Wheat from U.S.

By JUNE BAINBRIDGE

LONDON, Sept. 2—(Reuters)—Britain will refuse her September grain allocation from the United States, it was learned Monday, and most likely will turn down her October allocation, too.

Although Food Minister Strachey said in Dundee Sunday that all British food imports from the United States had been temporarily suspended, some believed that wheat, as a basic foodstuff, might be exempted from suspension. They learned Monday, however, that this would not be so.

Britain's share of the United States September grain allocations was 59,500 tons of wheat and 12,000 tons of wheat flour out of total allocations of 884,000 tons of wheat and 254,000 tons of wheat flour.

The only higher allocations were to the Anglo-American zone of Germany—255,000 tons of wheat and 55,000 tons of wheat flour—and to Italy of 127,000 tons of wheat and 22,000 of wheat flour.

The French allocation was the same as the British.

"Britain's refusal of her allocation will be good news for any wheat-importing countries with enough dollars to buy additional wheat. Unfortunately we cannot quite think which of these countries might be," grain circles reacted.

"We fear that, on the contrary, several more countries soon will be forced to follow Britain's example due to a similar lack of dollars," they added.

Take Rubber Game 4-3

PURITY ONE UP IN BIG 4 FINAL

A record breaking crowd of 4,941 paying customers saw Walt Gully blast a pair of two-run homers off Leo Douziech at Renfrew Park Monday night to give Purity 99 a 4-3 victory over Eskimos and a 2 to 1 lead in the Big Four Baseball League final series.

Eskimos had won the first of the best-of-seven final round 5-4 on Saturday night and Purity the second game Sunday afternoon by a 4-3 count. The team will resume the series at Calgary Wednesday. Thirty-five hundred was the attendance Saturday and 4,500 were on hand Sunday afternoon.

WALT GULLY, first-baseman for the Calgarians, took personal charge of the rubber affair last night. Purity collected only four hits off the Eskimo twirlers—all off Douziech—and of these Walt contributed three, two of them home runs and each time with a man on. And on both occasions two were out.

The Purity break came when Huckaby drew four wide ones from Douziech with one away. Beland, the top slugger for the Calgarians flied out to Seaman in right field. Apparently Douziech elected to pitch to Gully and the Purity first baseman drove the ball over the Smile Hat sign to give his club a 2-1 lead.

TONY MAZE, who had allowed only four hits in six innings, opened the seventh with a double into left field, the ball barely being inside the third sack. Huckaby flied out to Price at second and Beland popped out to Gonzales at short.

Apparently the Eskimo strategy went awry at this stage, for with Gully next up it seemed that a pass was in order. The ball may have gotten away from Douziech, but in any event Mr. Gully was ready and he whammed it over the right fence for his second two-run homer for the evening.

ESKIMOS had scored the first run of the game in the lower half of the opening frame when Price started off with a single, stole second, went to third on Seaman's infield out and came home on Ralph Morgan's hit to centre.

Eskimos picked up an earned run in the seventh when Garrett got a life on Huckaby's error, stole second and came on Lefty Belter's single to centre. Belter had taken over when Gully belted his second homer.

A walk to Seaman, a stolen base on Gonzales' double gave Eskimos their third run in the eighth. Roeder was caught at third—Garnet to O'Grady — when Samis singled to right.

PURITY OUTHIT the Eskimos Saturday night 11 to 8, but lost 5-4. Eskimos put together four hits off Joe Kanik in the opening frame and these along with a pair of errors netted three runs.

Tommy Brant, who had relieved Doug Darrah in the second inning, drove in Roeder who had singled, to make the score 4-2 in the fourth inning.

A walk, fielder's choice and Dave Brockie's double gave Eskimos the winning margin.

BIG JOHN CARPENTER wasn't pitching anything too involved on Sunday afternoon, but he won his game 4-3.

An inside-the-park homer by Garnet in the ninth proved the turning point in the game. The umpires ruled that ball had not gone into the crowd along the fence at left-centre and should count as a home run. Manager Henderson claimed that the ground rules called for a three-base hit on the play and entered a protest on the play. Noon's double, a fielder's choice, an error by Brockie and Carpenter's single proved the payoff.

Stewart batted for Garrett in the last of the ninth, singled, went to second on Gonzales' hit in to third on the throwin and home on Brockie's fielder's choice.

Jack McGill was suspended for the balance of the series as a result of a run-in with Umpire Fred Lupul in the Sunday afternoon affair.

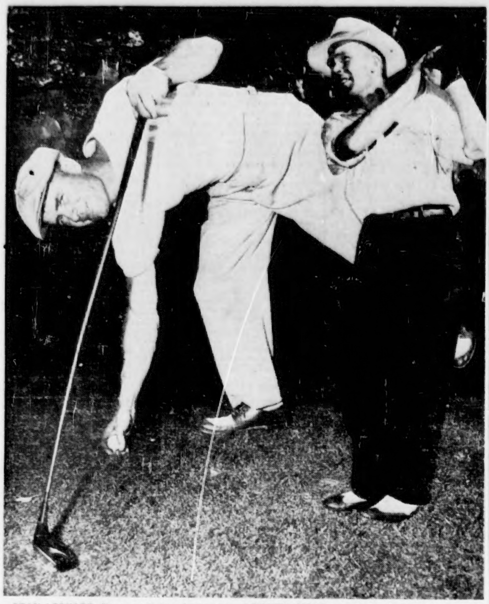
They Set the Pace in Alberta Open Tournament



STAN LEONARD, Vancouver's long-driving professional, who is no stranger to Edmontonians, was caught by The Edmonton Bulletin's photographer yesterday while teeing his ball at the 7th hole. Stan won the tournament with a seven-under par 277, eight strokes ahead of Pat Fletcher, Saskatoon.

VERNON MOHS (inset on the right) consistent Highlands shotmaker, garnered the low amateur crown with a fine 294 score, just one stroke ahead of Henry Martell. The tournament was a marked success, with 77 teeing off in the opening round.

Whip South Side 4-0, 4-3

Canadians Go Ahead In Junior Ball Final

Canadians, who didn't hurt anyone too much during the regular season, are on the threshold of the junior baseball crown for the second straight season. Over the week-end they made things rough for South Side by respective scores of 4-0 and 4-3.

The Redlegs had to scratch to earn a final berth after finishing the season in fourth spot. But they clipped the pennant-winning Maple Leafs in the semi-finals and advanced as underdogs against the South Side band.

TODAY, after nudging the Wally Aldridge nine in the first two games of the best of five city final, they're anything but underdogs. The third match of the series is slated for Clarke Stadium tomorrow at 6:45 with Bob Coughlin slated to hurl for South Side and Tommy McGregor drawing the mound assignment for Canucks.

Canadians scored twice in the first frame of the Sunday game on Doug Anderson's single, a sacrifice, a walk, and an error. They added single tallies in each of the seventh and eighth cantos.

DOUG ANDERSON, Doug Clark and Ron Mathews collected two singles each for the Redbirds, while Mathews limited the black-stockinged Scona nine to five hits.

IN THE LABOR Day encounter, it remained for Mathews, reliable southpaw of the Val Berg's mound corps, to pull it out of the fire. He came in on a relief stint for Bobo Fleming in the seventh after South Side had come to within an ace of tying it up at four-all. As it was the rally died at three runs.

Previously the Canadians had scored once in the fourth, and chased three over in the sixth.

Bill Lothian Captures Trap Shoot Trophy

Bill Lothian, consistent marksman of the Edmonton Gun Club, blasted 94 "birds" from the sky out of a possible 100, to capture the gold band at traps in the city championships yesterday.

Bill Davis, Walter Muirhead and C. W. Campbell finished in the runner-up position with 92's.

The gunmen enjoyed perfect weather conditions for their tourney, with a slight cross-wind calling for added dexterity.

ANOTHER BILL, answering to the surname of Madge, carried off the laurels in the skeet department. He fired a 49 out of 50 to cop the Clive G. MacDougall trophy.

Bill Davis won the traps Graham Cup for high average. The average was taken out of 300 shots, and over the season Davis scored 329 straight hits without a miss to outdistance the field.

The Graham Cup for the high skeet average out of 300 shots was won by Bus Brown. He had a season's mark of 96 per cent.

FOUR ERNIE TURVEY cups acquired new owners in the Labor Day shoot. The "double A" winner was Bill Davis with a 95.4 mark. Babe Gaucher completed the season with an 88 to win the A class. O. Byers had a 77.9 and that was good enough to place him first in the B class. The C class had Dr. W. S. Archibald in the van with 76.8.

Leonard Cracks Par To Take Open Title

Vern Mohs Tops Amateur Field With 294 Score

A ball sailed high over the deep ravine on the 18th hole at the Edmonton Golf and Country Club as the sun was setting last evening, cut deeply into the green and came to rest four feet from the pin.

A short, but sturdy lad with an almost boyish grin eventually made his appearance, walked up to the ball and stroked it into the cup for a birdie.

IT WAS A FITTING finale to a grand four rounds of golf by Stan Leonard, popular Vancouver professional, who outshone a glittering field of shotmakers in the Alberta Open with a seven-under par 277.

Before the tourney started Stan predicted a score of 275 would be close to the winning score, but he didn't reckon on the stubborn 13th. That particular hole threw the Coast ace out of gear twice, once when he needed five on the par-three hole and in the second-last round when he took a seven.

BUT THAT hole had other enemies, too. Helmuth Goertz, a southpaw, sliced his tee shot over the bank to the left and before the little pellet came to rest in the cup "Helmie" had stroked it an even dozen times.

Leonard was four under par when he came to the 13th Monday morning. The seven wiped out his advantage against par, but he picked up three birdies on the way home for a fine 68.

Stan had scores of 70-70-68-69 to lead his nearest rival, Pat Fletcher, by eight strokes. Pat, who once was pro at the Country Club, but is now in Saskatoon, scored 73-68-72-73 for a creditable 285. Ben Colk, of Vancouver was third with 293.

THE TOURNEY was a battle between the Vancouver and Saskatoon stars, with Vernon Mohs occupying top position among the amateurs.

Vern, who along with Henry Martell, has been one of the most consistent shotmakers in the city, scored 294, with cards of 71-72-76-75. It marked the first time in Edmonton golf annals that the good-natured, red-thatched Mohs had finished ahead of a field which contained Henry Martell. Henry was second high amateur with 295.

THE TOURNEY was a complete success and attracted more than 1,000 spectators in the last day of play. In the evening prize-winners and out-of-town players were the guests of the Alberta Golf Association at a banquet. President P. I. Cameron was chairman, while Walter Sprague presented the prizes to the professionals and A. J. Munro, Alberta representative of the RCGA, presented the prizes to the amateurs.

It was the biggest tournament in the history of the event, and also had the largest entry, 77 players teeing off.

S. Side Athletics Crowned Junior Fastball Champs

The South Side Athletics smothered the Lethbridge Cadet Corps three times over the Labor Day week-end to carry off the junior fastball diadem for the province. They matched the southern kings 12-3 and 15-1 on Sunday and scored a 5-0 victory yesterday.

The first Sunday and yesterday's tilt were the games which counted in the best of three series.

SOUTH SIDE pounced on an obviously jittery Lethbridge nine for seven runs in the first frame of the first Sunday match. After that it was a matter of pitcher Schwarz silencing the Cadet Corps' stickwork and the locals increasing their edge to a final reading of 12-3.

Ten runs in the fourth frame of the second Sabbath encounter paved the way for the A's lopsded 15-1 margin.

PACED BY George McAvoy's two run homer in the second inning yesterday the South Siders blanked a much-improved Lethbridge team 5-0. Arnie Wingrove was touched for eight hits on the Athletic hill but he was tight in the clutch.

Far-West Final At Kingsway Park

The far-western semifinal series in the ladies fastball begins tonight at Kingsway with Mortons tangling with Vancouver Pacifics. Gametime for this evening's game is 8:30 p.m.

Succeeding matches in the series will be played at the Kingsway ball orchard tomorrow at 4:30 and 8:30.

The coast nine arrived in Edmonton last night. In addition to 14 players, manager Albert Wells and coaches Bob Peters and A. Hine made the jaunt to Alberta.

Northern Stars Beaten Twice

The Yellowknife All-Stars have come and gone. They failed to win one of the three exhibition fastball games they played at Kingsway but over the Labor Day weekend they dropped a pair of one-run heartbreakers.

SATURDAY eve they fell before Precision Machine 7-6, and yesterday they dropped an 11-10 verdict to ANA ets. In a second game played Monday at the Kingsway stockade RCAF Aces flew past Canada Packers 6-4.

The All-Stars collapsed in the seventh frame against the Machine crew. They were leading 6-1 going into the last of the lucky seventh but then Precision uncorked a six run four-hit assault which whipped the northerners. Cece Houlihan's four base clout to centre with two aboard sparked the rally.

It was the same kind of a story against ANA Vets yesterday. They were leading 10-3 with paydirt in sight going into the Vets' half of the eighth. Then the local nine chased five runs across and won it all with a trio in the last of the ninth. Frenchy Lalonde spearheaded the Vets' winning assault with three lusty clouts in four trips.

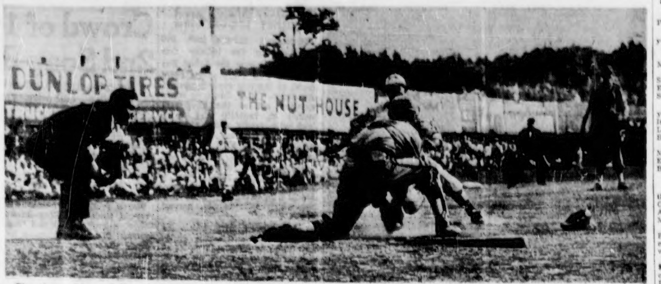
Did Ken Stewart Drop Huckaby's Throw from Short?



The above picture of the all-important play in the ninth inning of Sunday afternoon's game shows The Edmonton Bulletin's camera was right on the job. Frank Gonzales, coming in from third with what might have been the tying run, was called out by Umpire Fred Lupul. The Eskimos claimed catcher Ken Stewart had dropped the throw from Short-stop Woody Huckaby who fielded Bill Price's ground ball. The ball appears to be getting away from Stewart, but Ken's glove may have hidden from the umpire what actually did happen. It was as a result of this play that Jack McGill was thrown out of the game by Umpire Fred Lupul. McGill subsequently was suspended for the balance of the series by league officials as a result of his brush with the umpire.

Annual Event Attracts 112 Athletes

Eight Records Broken In Scholastic Meet

Interscholastic athletes with homes spaced between Vulcan in the south and Athabasca in the north descended on Clarke Stadium last Saturday and cracked eight former records. And in the final tabulation half of the new marks were created by Edmonton performers.

Doris Reid, diminutive 12-year-old lass from the city, vaulted four feet three inches to shatter the high jump mark for girls in the 12-13 years of age class.

In the girls 14-15 year old bracket, Shirley Bradshaw and Doreen McLeod established a pair of new marks. McLeod came hurtling down the straightway in the 60 metre hurdles at 10 3-5 clip. Shirley heaved the discus 81 feet to crop up with her record-breaking performance.

BERNARD D'Aoust was credited with a running high jump mark in the 12-13 year old class for boys that was good for a record. He cleared the bamboo at four feet five and a half inches. Just by way of being versatile, young Bernie grabbed second place ribbon in the 220 yard dash, the hop, step, and jump, and the running broad jump.

Four other records were piled onto the scrap heap. John Evans, lanky 13 year old from Elnora, was responsible for two of them, while the others were set by Patricia Wheatstone of Opal, and Billy McMahon of Calgary.

Evans broke the 12-13 year old boy's bracket wide open with long leaps over terra firma in the hop, step and jump and running broad. In the former he lunged 32 feet two inches, and in the latter he stretched the tape 14 feet 10½ inches.

PAT WHEATSTONE had a running broad effort of 13 feet nine inches for girls 12-13, while McMahon dashed over the 120 yards low hurdles in 16 seconds flat.

A total of 112 competitors took part in the annual meet, which was handled this year by A. W. Lawrence, long time track enthusiast in Edmonton, and Red McNichol of the city police force.

A band of Edmonton cricketers pounced on an all-star team from Calgary on Monday and when the bowling and batting was over the Northerners had chalked up 220 runs for nine wickets declared, against 78 for the visitors.

W. B. Drever was the hero of the Edmonton win with a fine century, while J. V. Edwards also gave a sound batting performance with 49 runs.

P. Snell of the Southern eleven was top man with 47. He was eventually bowled by J. V. Edwards.

Motorbike Riders Thrill Big Crowd

Sunny Alberta lived up to her name yesterday and motorcyclists provided thrills aplenty for a crowd of 8,000 persons at the Western Canadian championship motorcycle races, held at the exhibition grounds.

THRILLS FOR the crowd began with the first race—Edmonton Motorcycle Club only—when a fight for first place between Rupert Mieske and Don Chin kept spectators at the edge of their seats. The lead was kept by Mieske for the first seven of the ten-lap race, and then Chin took over, only to go into a spin on the north west corner of the track and lose control of his machine.

MIESKE ENDED up as winner of the club event, with Jack Sorenson second and Roy Olsen third.

Only serious spill of the day occured in the final race when J. Keegan, Calgary, crashed on the same corner as Chin.

Keegan was battling for third position when he rounded the corner, went into a spin and lost control of his machine. He was removed to hospital, but it was learned later he was not seriously injured.

JACK RIPLEY of Regina was winner of the final event and $500 prize money. He was presented with the Alcan trophy at the conclusion of the race by E. Coward, official of the Edmonton Motorcycle Club.

Bill Telford, Vancouver, placed second in the final race and Bob Slack of Great Falls, Mont., was third. The race was 10-mile expert class and winner's time was 11 minutes, two seconds.

The 10-mile novice class was won by Vic Smith, Vancouver, with Fred Elgert, Edmonton, second and Glenn Roose, Bellingham, Wash., third. Time was 12:6.

In the amateur division Fred Boyd, Vancouver, after nearly losing control of his machine, placed first in the 10-mile event. George Bass, Calgary, and Billy Bringhurst, Bellingham, were second and third.

A NOVELTY race, run off at high speed, was the sidecar 5-mile race. Don Stobbert, Edmonton, finished first in six minutes and two seconds. Ron Young, Calgary, was a close second and Don Williamson, third.

Three feature events added to the exciting programs. Don Chin, of the Edmonton club, crashed a pillar of barrels, very nearly crashing himself. He righted safely, however, and received a good hand from the crowd.

"Flirt with Death" ramp jump was executed by Rupert Mieske. He came off the ramp and leaped over eight men lying on the ground.

Final feature was a leap through a flaming wall. A stand was soaked with gasoline and ignited, and through this rode Frank Stephenson.

EXTRA MINERALS, VITAMINS FROM LIBBY'S BABY FOODS

Libby's Double Process, Straining Plus Homogenization, Aids Infant Digestion, Increases Available Nourishment

Libby's are the only makers of Baby Foods who take the extra precaution of Homogenizing, as well as straining, fruits and vegetables.

Homogenization breaks up coarse fibres at least ten times finer than straining alone can do, and it explodes food cells. This not only prevents irritation from rough particles, but the burden of breaking up food cells is lifted from baby's immature digestive juices which can immediately begin assimilating exposed nourishment.

This gives Libby's Baby Foods two definite advantages over foods which are only strained; they are extra easy to digest and baby gets full benefit of all the minerals and vitamins in his food.

When shopping for baby, don't forget Libby's Homogenized Evaporated Milk and Libby's "Gentle Press" Tomato Juice.

FREE BOOKLET on Infant Feeding

If you wish to learn more about Homogenized Baby Foods, send your name and address to Libby's, Chatham, Ontario, and you will receive a free copy of the booklet, "Healthful Feeding for Your Baby".

Mines Ministers To Attend Parley

HALIFAX, Sept. 2—(CP)—Mines Minister L. D. Currie announced Monday that a three-day conference of the provincial ministers of mines will begin Sept. 3 at Keltic Lodge in the Cape Breton highlands. Uniformity of mining legislation in the various provinces is a matter to be dealt with, and a special committee appointed last year under the chairmanship of Col. $200 Stolen From Service Station

As a result of numerous breakins reported last week, Kingsway Service Station, 101 street and Kingsway, was reported unlawfully entered sometime Saturday night or Sunday morning.

The manager, Reg. Holden, told police $200 in currency is missing along with a post office savings book, a cheque for $100 and a ledger.

Police said the front door had been forced open with an iron bar. Robert Gravelle, 10642 97 street, noticed the lock and door shattered about 8.15 Sunday.

City Children Return to School

With summer holidays gone for another year, city children this morning made their way once more for the site of the ringing school bell to commence another ten months in the halls of learning.

Edmonton school grounds were filled with the echoes of noisy and scampering boys and girls and one observer was heard to say, "Ah, school. That was the happiest time of my life."

According to R. S. Sheppard, superintendent of schools, there will be a large enrollment this year but no actual figures are yet available.

Along with the "old timers" from Grade 2 and up, there were hundreds of small tots entering to experience their first year in the class rooms.

Motorists are warned to drive safely while passing through school zones now that the school season is opened again.

Two new schools were opened this morning and another is expected to open its doors in October. The two completed schools are an addition to the Rutherford school, and the North Edmonton schools. Children in the vicinity of the Delton school will have an extended holiday until October when that school will be opened.

PAINTING THE TOWN and Country

PROSPERITY versus shabbiness — or paint versus deterioration. Wartime necessity dictated drabness at home, but now there are more materials becoming available . . . not quite enough yet . . . and home owners are planning the beautification and protection of their property with paint.

Bapco Pure Paint is a favorite of Westerners for many reasons. In its manufacture all ingredients used are pure. Its quality is guaranteed by grinding in the newest type of machinery to impalpable fineness. It is permanent and brilliant. It is this particular care in manufacture that has gained a reputation for long-lasting quality, texture and beauty.

There's a great difference in paint, so be sure to ask for Bapco by name.

Citizens Enjoy Holiday Week-end

Edmonton's citizens took full advantage of the holiday fare offered them over the Labor Day week-end with every sports event staged in the city reporting a full attendance. Most forms of transportation out of the city were booked to capacity and roads lined with family autos of those seeking the freedom of lake-side and mountain resorts.

The exodus of city residents was counter-balanced by an influx of people living in smaller towns in the district. Few farmers were able to take advantage of the holiday, which falls in the harvest season.

The eagerness with which the holiday was awaited was partly contributed to by the juveniles of each family who urged on sometimes reluctant parents, that this was "the last chance" before school opened.

Many parents didn't need a great deal of urging, however. It was the last long week-end of the summer for them too.

The pleasure seekers were blessed as well with warm weather, though some of those who visited beaches close to the city reported that cool breezes militated against much sun-bathing on the sands.

Bomb Explosion

LIMA, Peru, Sept. 2—(AP)—Lima newspapers said a bomb exploded Monday on the second floor of the home of former president Manuel Prado, but that no one was injured and that damage was slight.

Acragas, founded in 582 B.C. was the last Sicilian city built by the Greeks.

"Bugs" Flash Down Hill

Crowd of 10,000 See 2nd Soap Box Derby

An estimated 10,000 citizens gathered along the banks of McDougall Hill Monday afternoon as the second annual soap box derby, sponsored by the Edmonton Federation of Community Leagues, was run off under ideal weather conditions.

THE EVENT featured an array of "racing bugs," which under the expert handling of youngsters between the ages of 12 and 16, coasted down the steep course in amazing speeds.

Wayne Pratt 9907 91 avenue 14-year-old student of King Edward School, driving a sleek red "bug," captured the major prizes—a new bicycle and the Federation of Community Leagues trophy—when he crossed the finish line with speed to spare. It is estimated that he travelled the course at a speed of 35 miles per hour.

Pratt's "jalopie," sponsored by the Fairway Auto Service, litterly ran away with every race in which it was entered. Wayne said the only trouble he encountered on the slope was at the final bend, at the bottom of the hill.

The program consisted of 12 heats. Winners of each heat advanced into semi-finals, and five drivers then were chosen for the final heat.

OTHER PRIZE winners were: second, Rickey Barker, 11117 84 street; third, Henry Taube, 9617 84 avenue; fourth, Jim Munroe; and fifth, Oscar Kruger.

Prizes, presented to the winners by D. Kenneth Lewis, president of the federation, included a mantel radio, wrist watch, wallet and a flashlight.

Ricky Barker, who won second prize with a bug sponsored by the United Cycle Shop, is a grade 10 student at Varsity high school. In an unsual type of "racer," Ricky lay flat, instead of adopting a sitting position.

A NUMBER of crack-ups added to the excitement, but all were on a minor scale.

Judges in charge of the races were: race marshall, F. Kastings; finish judge, Jim Cowan; starting judge, Roy Haliburton; and announcer, Jack Riley.

Free Japanese Of War Charges

TOKYO, Sept. 2—(AP)—Twenty-three Japanese suspected as war criminals, including a Tojo cabinet minister and the manufacturer of some of the country's best-known warplanes, were freed Monday. But Chief Prosecutor Joseph Keenan was quick to emphasize the action would have no bearing on the 15-months-old trial of Hideki Tojo and other high-ranking defendants. Keenan said there was "ample justification" for arrest of the 23 but insufficient evidence for their trial by an international tribunal. Those freed included Nagakage Okabe, who became Tojo's minister of education after the Pearl Harbor attack, and Chikuhei Nakajimi.

Edmonton Bulletin

Telephone 26121 EDMONTON, ALBERTA, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1947

Paul Gallico Says:

Oh come, kiddies, what do you say we all grow up a little and relax the moral indignation over the recently postponed Hughes Aircraft Investigation. Let's quit being hypocrites. I'm for the coppers in the Senate looking into what happened to all that dough of which I was relieved via income taxes in the past years although I have more than a mild suspicion that the probe isn't going to get any of it back for me. But you can't get me excited or exercised over the cry for "Influence." Influence plays a major part in business life in the U.S.A. The key to success is "Whom do you know?"

GALLICO

Why restrict it to the U.S.A.? Cozying up to a big shot for a favor or a boost up the ladder is as old as Man. Knowing the Right People has been an important business asset clear back to the Stone Age. If you stood in right with old Ugg, the Head Man, played ball with him and occasionally threw a little business his way, it might get you first crack at the dinosaur white meat when the divvy took place.

When the King business got going good in Europe the expense account for entertainment really came into its own. The local potentate could ruin any of his subjects, and frequently did, by announcing he was going to come and pay him a little week-end visit. By the time the sucker thus "honored" got through picking up the check, he was bankrupt. If he said, "No, thanks" to the proposed visit, he was "out," which was even worse than being broke. As long as he continued to have an "in" with the boss at headquarters he could always make a new pile.

Vital Phrase

Everybody buttered up somebody, from the dope who warmed the King's shirt for him in the morning to the Prime Minister whose "take" was staggering. The phrase "a friend at court" didn't just happen. A lot of people paid through the nose for it.

We got rid of the King and his gang in our country, but not the idea of baksheesh or the very ancient notion of introducing a cutie-pie to the Great Man in the hope that should the meeting burgeon into that wonderful thing called love, the Important One would remember you kindly when it got down to talking contracts. However, this method is a two-edged sword because the gal might turn out to be troublesome, as they frequently do, in which case the Boss might be expected to be at least mildly resentful toward the party who led him to her.

I do not say these things are admirable or desirable, particularly in a Republic operated democratically by and for the people, but that seems to be the way human beings are constituted.

Begins Way Down

It beings way down with the "peepul" themselves, long before it moves up into the higher echelons of Society, Government and Big Business. The little fellow who shines up to the neighborhood cop with a Christmas hand-out, or buys the district leader a drink at the corner dram-shop, feels he is getting a little edge and a pal when he might need one. You don't have to be a Machiavelli to appreciate that you trap more flies with meat than with sauerkraut juice. Everybody does it on one level or another. Our own government recognizes it by making "entertainment" a deductible allowance on the tax sheet.

All I am trying to say is that the ordinary citizen who cries "Fie!" and uplifts his paws in shock and horror at the goings-on in Washington with expense accounts, parties, dames and buttering-up are not only being impractical, but hypocrites. And hypocrisy is a human failing which is definitely curable.

Globe-Leduc No. 2 Is in Production

With a yield of 158 barrels of high quality crude in the first hour of its life as a producer, Globe-Leduc No. 2 over the week-end joined the battery of producing wells as the first independent company to strike success in the oil-rich Leduc sector of the new Edmonton oilfields.

The well is a two-zone producer having given a substantial rise of clear crude from the second Devonian horizon in an earlier drill-stem test. It is now producing from the D3 zone and considered one of the best wells in the area.

Pending approval of the oil conservation board the Globe-Leduc company may sink seven more wells in close proximity to their producer, according to a report of company directors.

With assurance that it will add its number to Imperial's strength of Leduc producers, their No. 8 well Tuesday was standing cemented. Plug will be drilled out within a few days and the well will be placed on production, officials in Edmonton said Tuesday.

Homestead-Yaremko No. 1, located two miles west of the Leduc proven area, in a one-hour drill-stem test on an interval between 4,935 and 4,951 feet gave a 3,850-foot rise of water with no showings of either oil or gas. Drilling will be continued into the next zone.

Drilling is proceeding on the new wildcat—Camrose No. 1—of Anglo-Canadian-Home Oil-Calgary and Edmonton Corporation. It was spudded in early Monday morning by Drilling Contractors Limited and is located 1½ miles southeast of the town of Camrose.

Imperial's Leduc No. 15 will be spudded in sometime this week. Roadbuilding is proceeding in preparation for a start on Imperial's Woodbend No. 1 wildcat. Imperial Legal No. 1 is 75 per cent rigged and will probably be spudded this week.

Collapses in Cafe, Edmonton Man Dies

After collapsing in a city cafe, Joe Melnychuk, 60 years old of Edmonton, died on the way to hospital Monday evening. He is believed to have suffered from a heart attack.

Answering a call that a man was acting peculiarly in a city cafe, police said they found the man sitting in a booth and apparently very sick.

He was taken immediately to the hospital in the police wagon, where he was pronounced dead on arrival by a city doctor. The body was then taken to the Park Memorial funeral home.

Police investigations revealed that he has no relatives in Canada, but it is believed he has some in Poland.

No inquest will be held.

Fort Smith RCMP Inspector Dies

Inspector Hugh Williams of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police detachment of Fort Smith subdivision, NWT, died Sunday in a city hospital. He was 53 years old.

He had served on the force since Oct. 1919 and was inspector since 1939 at Fort Smith.

He is survived by his wife.

An RCMP military funeral service will be held in the Howard and McBride chapel Thursday at 2 p.m.

Burial will be in the Soldiers' Plot at Edmonton Cemetery.

Rain Is Forecast For This Evening

Light rain is expected this evening, ending early Wednesday morning. Skies will become overcast this evening and cloudy again Wednesday afternoon. Winds are north at 15 miles per hour but will drop to light tonight.

The maximum temperature yesterday was 78 above at 6.30 p.m. and the overnight low was 44 above at 7.30 a.m. Estimated low temperature tonight is 52 above. Expected high Wednesday is 70 above.

Many and varied were the entertainment events enjoyed by thousands of Edmontonians over the long holiday week-end. Shown above is a general scene of the second annual soap box derby, which supplied an estimated 10,000 citizens with thrilling entertainment on McDougall Hill Monday afternoon. Winner of the new bicycle and the Federation of Community Leagues trophy, Wayne Pratt, 9907 91 avenue, a 14-year-old student, is pictured (inset) at the "wheel" of his "jalopy" after crossing the finish line. Three youngsters may be seen in the background readying themselves for the sharp curve at the bottom of the steep course. See story on Page 8.

Amend Regulations

To Permit Trapping Of Muskrats in Fall

An amendment to trapping regulations which will permit the trapping of muskrats in the fall season was announced Tuesday by E. S. Heustis, Alberta fish and game commissioner.

This is a departure from usual procedure Mr. Heuestis explained in that in previous years trapping of muskrats was permitted only in the spring season.

It has been found, however, that those animals in shallow sloughs or water-courses were being killed when winter froze their ponds to the bottom. In order to save the valuable furs thus lost, the department decided on the amended season.

The trapper must obtain a special permit, which can be had from his game guardian and will then use his own discretion as to whether he will trap certain waters in the fall or spring. In those sloughs which he considers will freeze solid he will trap this fall, but in others he will wait till spring when the fur is of a higher quality.

Three New Cases Of Polio Reported

Three new cases of poliomyelitis reported over the long week-end in Alberta bring to 32 the number of those afflicted with the disease in this province.

A 39-year-old married woman at Medicine Hat was the first case reported as the holiday week-end drew to a close. This report was followed closely by two cases to the east of Edmonton.

One was a13-year-old boy at Mundare, while a man of 33 years at Lamont was the other victim.

There have been five deaths in the province this year, but provincial health department officials say that the disease this year is taking a relatively mild form and that many of the cases reported are already convalescing at their homes.

FIND MAN DEAD

A 50-year-old treaty Indian, Charlie Cardinal, Goodfish Lake, near St. Paul, was found dead on Sunday according to RCMP. The man is reported to have died as a result of a stroke and officials said it is not likely an inquest will be held.

Customs Collections Show Big Increase

Customs collections for the first eight months of this year totalled $6,949,054 compared with $5,390,630 for the same period last year, an increase of $1,558,424, according to figures released Tuesday by officials of the department.

City tax collections during the eight months of this year totalled $3,502,829.01 compared with $3,358,218.59 for the same period last year, an increase of $144,610.42. Collections during August this year amounted to $298,757.56 compared with $348,968.20 for the same month last year, a decrease of $50,210.64.

Customs collections for August this year show the substantial increase of $183,856.47 increasing from $729,867.05 to $913,723.52. Collections through the Edmonton port show increases each month of this year compared with the eight-month period of 1946.

Sales of city owned land forfeited for taxes show a decline during the eight-month period of this year. During the period ended Aug. 31, 1947, the sales totalled $443,671 compared with $1,049,931 for the same period last year, an increase of $603,260. Sales in August this year totalled $40,392 compared with $42,240 for the same month last year.

Shortages in building supplies, and also the shortage of lots served by sewer and water account for the falling off in the sales through the city land department. Shortage of sewer pipe has prevented the city from carrying out sewer and water extensions to many sections in which there is a long waiting list of prospective purchasers.

City rentals collected during the eight month period of this year amounted to $100,494 compared with $120,564 for the same period last year, a decrease of $20,070.

Over-Seas League Sec. Here

Influence for Peace Said Never Greater

Influence of the British Commonwealth of Nations for peace was never greater that at the present time despite statements that the "British Empire is finished," Brig. V. G. Stokes, MC, London, England, secretary of the overseas development department of the Over-Seas League, said here Tuesday.

BRIG. STOKES, a wounded veteran of the Second World War, retired from active service last year, is in Edmonton on a coast-to-coast tour of Canada in furtherance of the aims and objectives of the Over-Seas League.

The league was founded in 1910 for the purpose of binding the peoples of the various British Commonwealth closer together through "understanding and help."

World headquarters of the league is London, England. There are branches, groups and secretariats in every Commonwealth. There is a total membership of 60,000.

Strong branches operate in Toronto, Vancouver and Victoria and a group of 20 functions in Edmonton under secretary Dr. Harold Orr.

"There was never a time when it is more important for the peoples of the British Commonwealth to stand together," Brig. Stokes stated.

"Britain will pull through her present crises but the process will be slow and painful," he added.

The British housewife is the chief sufferer in the present austerity holding Britain in its grip.

In the opinion of Brig. Stokes Britain is in no danger of going Communist.

THE PERSONALITY of the Briton does not lend itself to Communism, he explained.

The Over-Seas League encourages immigration to Canada and is now holding an essay contest in British schools, the prize being a trip to Canada.

The Over-Seas League headquarters was bombed during the war and most of the records destroyed by fire.

While in Edmonton Brig. and Mrs. Stokes are being entertained by Philip Debney, former lieutenant colonel in the Canadian Engineers.

He plans to leave for Saskatchewan Wednesday.

The trip sponsored by the Navy League of Canada and made possible through the co-operation of the naval service, was in return for a visit made to Canadian Sea Cadets, by an equal number of U.K. lads last summer.

James was accompanied on his trip by Albert Eyolfson, a sea cadet from Prince Rupert, who is visiting in Edmonton on his way home.

Why Grow Old?

Does fear hound you or do you enjoy life as Actress Janis Carter does when she climbs gayly into a plane?

By Josephine Lowman

You may not have any skeletons in your closet but you probably do have fears locked up in your conscious or subconscious mind, or in both! Worry is a form of fear. It is a well-known psychological fact that the best way to overcome the worry habits is to face our fears and examine them truthfully. They can only cause terrible repercussions when we pass the buck so far as self-knowledge is concerned.

You are afraid? Do you worry for fear this or that will happen? Do you experience a vague feeling of uneasiness most of the time, as though something is hanging over you? Take each fear out and look it straight in the eye. Is it a reasonable fear? If so can you do anything constructive about it? Then do it! If not, forget it! You will probably be able to do this once you have admitted its existence to yourself.

Anyway, most of the things people waste years of unhappiness over and tons of energy in fearing, never happen! If they do occur the thing or situation you have been fearing is almost always so much less painful than the fear was, that it makes you feel a little silly in looking back.

They say that idiots never worry. It takes intelligence to worry. As a matter of fact, much of the worlds advancement and man's progress have been based on fears of different kinds. However, there is no need to over do it and in most humans this characteristic is so strongly instinctive there is no need to cultivate it. Yet thousands of women are fretting and worrying themselves and their families into nervous exhaustion and putting the damper on living by useless fears over things that will never happen, or dangers which do not exist. Just on the law of averages, the thing you fear most is unlikely to happen!

If you find yourself in the clutches of this damaging habit and wish practical psychological suggestions, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for my leaflet No.64, "Worry," to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

MAY LEAVE GREECE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—(AP)—State Under-Secretary Lovett said yesterday during a press conference that Britain and the United States are discussing the withdrawal of British Soldiers from Greece.

Bridge

By William E. McKenney

One player who always can be counted upon to get to a slam contract, if it is in the cards, is Bertram Lebhar, Jr., of New Rochelle, N.Y., treasurer of the American Contract Bridge League. Lebhar may be accused of "wild" bidding at times, but he always can show sound reasons for his bids. However, even he had to admit that the bidding on today's hand, which came up in a game at his home, was a bit fantastic. Lebhar sat South and his partner was Mrs. Lebhar.

The bidding progressed normally to start with. Some players might open the South hand with a forcing two-bid, but I agree with Lebhar that the hand is not strong enough for that. With the wonderful spade fit, Mrs. Lebhar jumped in diamonds to tell her partner that they were going to make not only a game but probably a slam. When Lebhar replied with three hearts, he accepted the slam invitation, and his partner then showed her preference between hearts and spades with the three-spade bid. Lebhar's four club bid showed the club ace and North's five clubs showed the club king. Seeing prospects of a grand slam instead of a small slam Lebhar now bid five diamonds, his void suit. Remember that his partner had made a jump bid in diamonds. Mrs. Lebhar naturally thought that he held the king of diamonds. Having supported spades, she thought it was time to show control in hearts, so she bid five hearts. Lebhar in turn thought that she held the king of hearts, so without further ado he bid seven spades.

The play presented no problem as the trumps broke two-two and the clubs three-three, but as Lebhar remarked, it is seldom that both partners support the other's suit with a void as they did in this hand.

The Book of Knowledge

(Department: Literature)

This and the following articles are taken from the Book of Knowledge and can be clipped for saving in a reference book.

THEATRES OF LONG AGO

Elizabethan Drama — that is, English plays written and produced during the reign of Queen Elizabeth—had three sources: the folk dance and folk play, the drama which started in connection with the liturgy of the Church and, finally, the classical drama of Rome.

The classical influence came last. We find it flowering in the generation just before Shakespeare became a playwright. A group of young university-trained men came to London and found that they could make a living by writing plays for the popular players, who were by this time organized into something like professional companies.

The players usually went under the protection of some great nobleman and were technically his servants; this was a device to protect them from the law against rogues, vagabonds and "masterless men." If you were an actor, the sensible thing to do was to wear the livery of some powerful lord, or you might be picked up as a tramp. The young university men who began writing for the players were thus lowering themselves socially, for the popular state was hardly respectable.

The productions were at first given in the courtyards of inns. A collection was taken from the audience, who stood on the ground around three sides of the platform. Those who could afford it might rent a room in the inn and watch the play from a window. This origin of the playing-place was important, for it had an influence upon the shape and structure of theatre buildings when they came to be built in 1576 and later.

In the first place, the audience surrounded the stage on three sides and stood very close to where the players were; this meant that the actors could make remarks to the audience (such remarks were called "asides") in a natural way. The plays were given in the afternoon, by natural daylight, and there was no roof over the pit or yard. Accordingly, there was none of the illusion which our modern stage produces by means of lighting.

There was no curtain on the front of the stage; there might be a curtain at the back, and behind this a smaller area which could be used, when the curtains were opened, as a cave or a study or something of the sort. Finally, it was possible to use windows or a balcony on the inn's second floor for some scenes, so the stage had two levels. These three areas became the outer, inner and upper stage when the regular public Elizabethan theatre was developed.

It is necessary to remember these things about the stage in order to understand some parts of the plays of Shakespeare and his fellows. For instance, if a character died in a scene on the outer stage, there had to be a funeral procession to carry the body off. Today the curtain goes down at the end of the act and the "dead" actor simply rises and walks off the stage.

There was little scenery (in our sense), so the locality of a scene, when it matters, is always indicated in the lines spoken by the actors. Thus, in "As You Like It," Rosalind and Celia, last seen at the court, enter, and Rosalind says, "Well, this is the forest of Arden." In our day, radio plays must also describe their scenes, though we have sound-effects that help.

Canadian Army Now At 77% of Strength

OTTAWA, Sept. 2—(CP)—Canada's permanent army has been recruited up to 77 per cent of its authorized strength of 18,750 for this year, defence headquarters announced Sunday night. As of Aug. 22, there were 2,243 officers and 12,163 other ranks on the army's pay roll. Approximately 99 per cent of the officers and men are veterans of the Second World War and the majority are skilled tradesmen, technicians or specialists. In recent weeks, headquarters said, there has been an increase in the number of young men without previous military experience who want to enlist.

Your Baby and Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

William Don, nine and one half months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wedderburn, 11244 69 Street.

It is indeed difficult for a mother to stand by and watch some other person treat her child mistakenly. In this case it is a mother who deplores the fact that her mother-in-law teases her 10 months-old grandchild, and tells him stories that are not true. She wonders what I think of that and what she can do about it.

First the teasing. Teasing should be a sport indulged in by people of like ages. The small boy who is teased by the older one, the uncle who teases his small niece, put the teased ones at a terrific disadvantage. It is only when the teaser can be teased that there is any fairness or injustice to it.

It may be, since you did not mention the exact form the teasing takes, that this is just grandma's way of playing with the baby, and so long as the baby seems to enjoy it, it would not be harmful to him. Grownups do take away a child's toys, temporarily, and then give them back when the child cries. One had best evaluate such conduct by asking oneself: Would this be a desirable way for the child to act with a younger child? If not, when it isn't a good way for the superior adult to behave.

As for telling lies, obviously it is wrong. In this case it was also a form of teasing for the grandmother told the child his Daddy was coming, when she knew well enough he was not. Her idea was to make the child laugh and look excited, hoping for the appearance of the father.

Every adult who comes in contact with a baby is, in a sense, a model for the child's own conduct. It puts a great burden upon adults to feel themselves in such a position, but it should act as a censor of their own behavior. In such a case there will be some questioning of their own conduct as seen through the child's eyes. Kidding, teasing, playful lying may be recognizable as such by persons of one's own age, but the child's very gullibility should be his protection against them.

In a word, it is far more satisfying to teach the child truth and fair play and justice, by dealing that way with him, than it is to gratify oneself momentarily by getting the best of him. The game is too one-sided to be fun.

Our leaflet No. 84, "The Problem of Relatives," suggests how one may deal with relatives whose conduct displeases the parents. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Gromyko Again Chairman of UN

By LARRY HAUCK

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Sept 2—(AP)—The United Nations security council's youngest and best-known delegate—Andrei A. Gromyko—moves over into the chairman's chair today.

The 38-year-old Soviet deputy foreign minister will be serving for the second time. He held the gavel last September under the plan which revolves the chairmanship monthly among the 11 members.

Gromyko becomes a dual personality in speech and manner when he presides.

Acting in the role of chairman, he speaks English and rules in a precise way.

At intervals, however, he rumbles that he now will speak as the delegate of the Soviet Union. Then he launches into Russian and speaks with his usual vigor.

First Presbyterian Church Scene of Wiles-Fraser Wedding

First Presbyterian Church was the scene of a wedding Saturday at 5 p.m. of Miss Donna Jean Fraser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fraser and Roy William Wiles, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wiles, all of Edmonton. The Rev. J. MacBeath Miller performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a [illegible] marquisette gown fashioned with a [illegible] skirt, lily-point sleeves and a sheer [illegible] with taffeta trimming. Her [illegible] veil was held to her head with a [illegible] headdress decorated with pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Douglas Miller was matron of honor. The Misses [illegible] and Dorothy Wiles, sisters of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids.

Richard Cherry was best man and Tom Campbell and Arthur Yates were ushers. Arthur P. Newcombe played the wedding music and Douglas Miller sang Through the Years.

Later at a reception at the Macdonald hotel, the mothers of the bride and bridegroom received the [illegible] guests with the wedding couple.

W. H. Belcher proposed the toast to the bride.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip at Banff and Jasper the bride changed to a three-piece mulberry red gabardine suit with black accessories and corsage of gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiles will make their home in [illegible].

New Swing Back Silhouette Featured at Autumn Show

Dame Fashion, sporting the 1947 very fall swing back silhouette, made her fall debut in Edmonton at the Junior Hospital League fashion show in Thompson and Dynes store Tuesday afternoon. The autumn show, [illegible] by Mrs. W. R. B. Wilson, assisted by Mrs. John McMullen and Mrs. John Mooney, will be repeated Wednesday.

Three-piece suits in fine English weaves featuring the longer lengths and softly rounded shoulders, and worn with [illegible] fitted topcoats highlighted the show. Attracting much attention was a burnt cinnamon suit fashioned with a cutaway jacket and topped with a hooded swaggering flareback coat in shades of brown, the hood being lined in the same brown as the suit.

Another three-piece ensemble was tailored from a soft gray wool, the gunmetal and feathery gray striped topcoat featuring deep cavalier cuffs fastened with bold steel buttons.

CUMBERLAND tweeds were popular suit materials, as were fine wool gabardines in shades ranging from spice browns to frosty whites.

Something new was added to the classic fitted coat in the form of a cape lavishly trimmed with [illegible] fox fur. [illegible] the cape may be used for formal wear.

Appealing to the college miss was a green wool coat trimmed with Persian lamb and featuring a velvet [illegible].

[illegible] was a black wool suit, banded in mink and worn with a three-quarter length matching coat.

Leg-o-mutton sleeves, tightly caught with a band at the wrist, full three-and-four-flare backs and new longer lengths were favored in the display of furs. The favored silhouette, styled with balloon sleeves, was also featured in the lavish fur coats, which included Hudson and Ararnak seals, Persian [illegible] and Muskrat in both [illegible] and marten shades.

Novelty furs, attracting the eye of Edmonton's younger set, included a shortie ocelot lapin featuring the banded cuff and mouton leopard fashioned on straight lines.

FROST WHITE, [illegible] the rose, pompadour blue, Florence purple, Mexican spice, copper tone and burnt cinnamon are new fall shades which vie with each other for popularity.

Afternoon dresses run the gamut of materials, for crepes, satins, wools, velveteens and gabardines all are featured. Dresses with the side-wrap styling, draping to the side, front or back, won much approval, as did those which featured peplums and jewel, high round, deep V or high surplice necklines.

Satin, in a copper tone, fashioned a much-admired two-piece tea dress. An off-the-face felt hat, relieved with ostrich tips and featuring a lattice-work crown complemented the ensemble.

An extravaganza of materials [illegible] this season's formal wear with elaborate sequin embroidery the favorite trim. Catching the eye of the junior miss was a [illegible] formal in an ice-green shade fashioned with an off-the-shoulder neckline, fitted bodice and gored skirt.

CHIC WAS A black Chantilly lace gown with a low scoop neckline [illegible] to a Grecian styled pink silk dinner gown.

Flaunting the tradition that the bride must wear white, the bridal gown modelled in the show was fashioned of lustrous ice-blue satin. Its rippling folds formed a soft [illegible] which began at the sides, continued round to the back and cascaded into a sweeping train. Fine blue tinted Valenciennes lace edged the lily point sleeves and sheer yolk. Broche satin, in a tea rose hue, styled the bridesmaid's dress, which was fashioned on lines similar to that of the bride.

A [illegible] of lace marks this autumn's exquisitely styled lingerie. [illegible] satins and delicate silks are featured.

A [illegible] set won [illegible] approval, as did a [illegible] daintily edged in ecru lace. Truly a favorite was a black sheer nightie, lavishly trimmed with a lace insertion at the waist.

Width and bulk mark milady's autumn millinery with off-the-face styles being the popular trend. Wool felt bowlers, brightened with a swish of plaid taffeta and bowed in the back, saucy velvet skull caps fitting smugly to the head and edged with gilt pencil braid and [illegible] were [illegible] in the millinery display.

The small shaped hat looks bigger through clever trimming arrangements, evident in a green off-the-face felt, brightened and heightened with an accent of wings. Sleek velvet bows in shades of fuschia, [illegible] and green added gaeity to a Palmer Brown original. [illegible] threads, crushed satins and [illegible] are lavishly used as trimming.

Members of the league served tea during the afternoon. Modelling the fashions were Mrs. Donald Fraser, Mrs. George Elliott, Mrs. R. A. Bellward, Mrs. A. Gerow, Mrs. David [illegible], Mrs. Guy Morton, Mrs. Eva Matheson and the Misses Joan Hustler and Joyce Farrell.

Mixed flowers decorated the home of Mrs. L. R. Wilkins, 11441 [illegible] street, when she entertained at a trousseau tea Monday afternoon in honor of her daughter, Miss Grace Wilkins, whose marriage to [illegible] Freeman, Jr., [illegible] takes place Sept. 8.

To receive the guests Mrs. Wilkins wore a figured jersey dress in tones of red, black and gray. Mrs. Harrison [illegible], sister of the bridegroom-elect, chose a white jersey dress. Miss Wilkins was frocked in a two-piece coral colored linen suit.

Presiding at the tea urns, at a table set in ecru lace and centred with a bowl of pink sweet peas, were Mrs. Phillip LeMausurier and Mrs. M. N. MacDonald. The Misses Marjorie Demorest, Norma Kreutz, Mina Sands and Ruby Davy assisted in serving.

Mrs. Norman Avery showed the trousseau.

Air Firms To Instal Radar For Use On European Lines

By E. C. Shepherd

LONDON, (NANA)—British European Airways Corp. is proceeding on the assumption that the radar system known as "Gee," produced during the war to help the R.A.F. Bomber Command find targets in thick weather, will be adopted by the European nations. The peculiar value of Gee is that, besides affording a navigator the means of determining his position, it also enables a control officer to "stack" aircraft laterally as well as vertically while awaiting their turn to land in bad weather.

In this respect it appears to have an advantage over the radio-range system used in the United States. The advantage is of special value in Europe where conditions of poor visibility are common during three-quarters of the year. Furthermore, the foundation of a Gee service for Europe already exists. There are three Gee chains in Britain, two in France and one in Germany. Each chain can be used up to a distance of about 400 miles.

Held Discussions

Talks between members of the European section of the International Air Transport association on the subject of navigational aids have taken place lately, and these have revealed a preference for Gee. This association consists entirely of operators; and the operators do not provide the ground services. Those facilities are provided by governments either at their own expense or with financial aid from the more powerful members of the International Civil Aviation organization. Up to the present there has been a tendency in the I.C.A.O. to press for universal use of the radio-range system.

There would seem now to be a likelihood that different navigational aids will be used on the two sides of the Atlantic. The radio range is established in America and Gee is establishing itself in Europe.

Miniature Set

A miniature receiving set for use with Gee chains weights only 25 pounds as compared with the 60 pounds of the R.A.F. set. If the new small set should prove fully satisfactory, it may settle the matter for European operators and ease the way for the American lines having routes both in Europe and America. In the same way, European operators on Atlantic services would have to be prepared to work the radio ranges in America and the Gee grid system in Europe. Given a light-weight radar set, the duplication of apparatus will not be serious.

The difference between the two systems is quite wide. The radio range gives a pilot a beam with occasional cross-checks to follow and warn him aurally of divergence to the right or left.

Gee gives him a grid map and continuous signals by which he can ayways locate himself on the grid. At the approaches to a busy airport, waiting aircraft can be distributed at many parts of the grid whereas they must be placed at different heights on the radio range to avoid the risk of collision.

VILLAGE OF WASKATENAU

NOTICE

Public Notice is hereby given that there has been introduced at a meeting of the Council of the Village of Waskatenau a By-law (No. 70) of which the following is a synopsis:

1. The Village hereby grants to the Canadian Utilities Limited its successors and assigns an exclusive franchise for the purpose of conducting electric energy for the supply of light, heat and power, together with every right, authority and permission to construct, mantain or operate within the Village, in, under, above, on or through or across any highway, road, street, lane and public place, or public water within the jurisdiction of the Village, any poles, wire, etc. for the purpose of conducting electric energy for the supply of light, heat and power.

The said special franchise shall be of full force and effect for a period of ten (10) years from the date hereof, and at or before the expiration of the term thereof the same may be renewed for a period not exceeding ten (10) years from the date of the renewal (and so from time to time) with such alterations, if any, as may be agreed upon by the parties and approved by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners. The said special franchise shall automatically be renewed for a period not exceeding ten (10) years from the date of expiration of the said period of ten (10) years and any renewal period of ten (10) years (and so from time to time) unless a written notice be given by the municipality to the Company at least three (3) months before the expiration of any such ten (10) year period, notifying the Company that the said special franchise and all the rights of the Company therein and thereunder will terminate at the end of such ten (10) year period.

2. In Clause 2 the Company agrees to construct its poles, and wires in lanes in preference to streets when reasonably convenient, and to submit its location plans to the Council. It agrees to remove its poles and wires on the termination of the franchise.

3. Clause 3 gives the Village the right to use the Company's poles for municipal purposes. The Village agrees to indemnify the Company against loss resulting from such use.

4. The Company agrees in Clause 4 to take reasonable precautions to prevent injuries to persons during the progress of work in streets and lanes, and agrees to indemnify the Village against loss sustained by it as a result of such work.

5. The Village agrees in Clause 5 to purchase all light and power for municipal purposes from the Company.

6. No extensions greater than two hunder and fifty feet in length will be required to be made by the Company unless the load or other conditions in the opinion of the Company warrant such extensions being made.

7. Clause 7 defines the rates, copies of which are on file at the Village Secretary-Treasurer's office, and may be seen upon request.

8. The Company under Clause 8 has the right after 48 hours' notice to disconnect the service to any customer whose account is unpaid for more than 30 days.

9. Under Clause 9 the Company agrees to supply meters and to submit a consumer's meter to test by the Department of Trade and Commerce of Canada on request of the Consumer.

10. The Company agrees in Clause 10 to construct a transmission line to the Village and upon completion of the same to supply electric light and power service subject to interruption by accidents beyond the control of the Company.

11. Clause 11 obligates the Company to liability at law for injuries sustained or suffered by any person or property caused by any act or ommission of the Company or its employees.

12. Clause 12 gives the Village the privilege of terminating this agreement with the consent of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners upon three months' notice should the Company fail to implement and comply with all the terms and conditions.

13. Clause 13 provides that the Company shall have the rights and be subject to the liabilities created by the Water, Gas, Electric and Telephone Companies Act.

14. Clause 14 provides that the Company's rights shall not be exclusive as against His Majesty in right of the province.

15. Subject to the last preceding clause, the Village will not grant to any other firm or corporation permission to sell or dispose of electric light or power in the Village during the term of this Agreement.

16. The Company submits to the jurisdiction of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners of Alberta to the same extent and in the same manner as it would be subject to such jurisdiction were the Company incorporated under the Alberta Companies' Act.

17. The Company covenants and agrees with the Village forthwith upon the execution of this Agreement to deliver up for cancellation the Agreement dated the 22nd day of February, A.D. 1946 and made between the Village of the one part and Authur Wolf of the other part, the benefit of which Agreement is now held by the Company under and pursuant to an assignment.

18. This Agreement shall enure to the benefit of and be binding upon the parties hereto and their respective successors and assigns.

The foregoing is a true synopsis of the proposed by-law, which will be finally passed by the Village of Waskatenau within four (4) weeks of the assent of the proprietary electors thereto.

And further that a vote of the proprietary electors of the Village of Waskatenau will be taken in Waskatenau on the 18th day of Sept. A.D. 1947, from the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon to the hour of 7 o'clock in the afternoon.

Given under my hand in the Village of Waskatenau, in the Province of Alberta, this 21st day of August A.D. 1947.

M. KOSHELEK
Returning Officer.

Largest Port In World Guarded By 200 Policeman

By Norman Cribbens

LONDON, (CP)—While London sleeps, reefer-jacketted policemen glide stealthily through dockland keeping watch over the largest port in the world.

From speedboats mounted with searchlights they swing past each wharf, scanning every barge and cranny a score of times between dusk and dawn, watching for the fleeting human form that may mean black-market gangsters, smugglers or petty thieves at work.

Nightly 200 officers and men of the Metropolitan police (Thames division) patrol 40 miles of wharves and riverfront in 35 highspeed motor launches. Along their route are hundreds of barges loaded with food and fuel, a fleet of ocean-going cargo ships piled high with exports or imports.

Thames policemen know all the tricks and tricksters of the river—the "river rats," the opium and drug-peddling dodgee— and they watch, too, for barges adrift and for persons who go down to the river contemplating suicide.

"Less than 50 years ago there was open piracy and smuggling on the Thames at night," said a seasoned river sleuth.

"Nowadays we are more concerned with petty thieves and black marketers who may take a fancy to your bacon ration."

Police launches are equipped with two-way radios enabling the patrolmen to communicate with Scotland Yard should an emergency arise.

Out of the dark waters the patrolmen also exchange signals with the customs boats that share their nightly vigil.

Recording Animal Avoirdupois Weighty Problem For Zoo

PHILADELPHIA, (AP) — The avoirdupois situation may seem strictly in milady's department, but Philadelphia zoo officials say it's an equally weighty problem in the animal world.

Getting a 500-hundred pound gorilla or a 30-year-old hippo on the scale is tougher than persuading a stout lady to weigh herself with her boy friend looking, says Fred M. Patton, the zoo's service manager.

But with the zoo highly weight-conscious these days, its scales are constantly in use, and by various and intricate means, zoo officials are keeping an accurate check on such inmates as Bamboo and Massa, the gorillas that have begun to bear a marked resemblance to the fabulous "Mr. Five-By-Five."

Bamboo—at 21 the oldest gorilla in captivity—last weighed in at slightly over 450 pounds, with "Massa" tipping the beam at a bit less.

Weighing such dangerous animals as Bamboo who recently mauled a caretaker, requires ingenuity. So officials devised a method of placing a scale outside the gorilla's cage and extending a bar into the cage. When the animal hangs on the bar, the scale automatically records the weight.

Elephants and hippos require even heavier equipment so the zoo uses the scale on which it weighs incoming coal and hay.

Weighing snakes provides another headache for caretakers. Getting the squirming serpents on a scale is one thing; keeping them there is another. Large, harmless snakes are considerably easier to weigh, says Charles McGurk, an employee.

'You just pick 'em up, step on the scale, deduct your own weight from the total and the difference is the serpent's poundage."

Dangerous species are placed in a bag and weighed alone on the scale, which may range from a kitchen type to a feed scale, depending on the variety of snake.

Birds get in on the weighing program, too, on scales varying from the postage type for baby owlets, sparrows and other small species, up to larger scales for ostrichs and other heavy birds.

Regardless of who they may be in the animal kingdom, every newcomer is weighed upon arrival, usually within the crate in which it is shipped. The weight of the crate is subtracted after the animal has been caged.

The zoo first became weight conscious about a decade ago when Dr. Herbert L. Ratcliffe found, after a series of autopsies and studies, that malnutrition frequently was the cause of zoo animals' deaths.

He then began an intensive study into malnutrition in animals — in which weight readings played an important part — and devised a series of well-balanced diets.

Since then, says Dr. Roger Conant, curator of the zoo, there have been no deaths due to improper feeding.

Start Settlement On Communal Line

AUCKLAND, N.Z., (CP)—Maoris of a new religious sect who forswear gambling, liquor, billiards and horse racing are forming a township of their own in the far north of New Zealand.

Founder of the movement is T. Rapana who some years ago began a campaign to obtain converts. Maoris of all ages decided to follow him to the remote district of Te Mangenui, in the Bay of Islands and establish a settlement run on communal lines.

The aim is to make the settlement self-supporting with its own post office, shops and community services and its members working together on Maori land.

Bringing furniture and other belongings, about 200 Maoris have arrived at the site of the future township and work on buildings has begun. Foundations for a meeting house have been laid and fern-leaf huts built to serve as temporary living quarters.
